Russia Calls For Top Level Meet Tuesday

Red Germany Frees 9 U.S. Soldiers Held Since June 7

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Nine U.S. Army men were freed after six weeks of captivity in Communist East Germany and returned here for a joyous reunion with their families.

The American Red Cross and the East German Red Cross completed the long negotiations for their release. The East German Communists claimed the release agreement amounted to recognition of their regime.

The men arrived in good health. They said they had been well treated and their spokesmen told a news conference there had not been any forcible attempts at brainwashing them.

Three of the men were new recruits but said they'll move them if their wives object.

The men were seized after their helicopter strayed across the Iron Curtain in a thunderstorm June 7.

Maj. George E. Kemper, of Escondido, Calif., 43-year-old senior officer of the group, read a prepared statement to reporters. The men then answered questions.

Kemper reiterated statements that there was no intentional violation of Soviet zone territory, that the copter landed after its fuel dwindled, and that East German police first turned the men over to Soviet authorities.

The Russians questioned the pilots and several officers in the group, then turned them over to the East Germans, Kemper said.

Eight Communist newsmen and a non-Communist reporter, Associated Press correspondent Seymour Topping, interviewed the men in Dresden July 3.

Kemper and others in the group charged the men were being held as political hostages and disclosed they had been turned over to the Russians first.

Kemper's statement stressed that the group never had authentic information on negotiations for their release. The men said they were to be freed came as a surprise Saturday morning.

East Germany's Stalinist regime at once began trying to make political capital of their release. An official statement claimed the Red Cross agreement for the men's freedom "takes into account the reality, that is to say the existence of the German Democratic Republic as a sovereign state. No occupation rights can be claimed any longer."

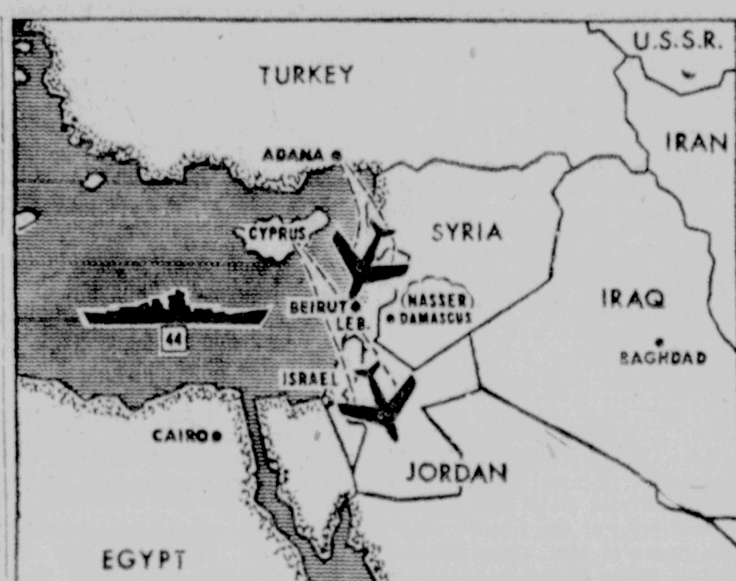

U. S. government and Army authorities were deadlocked by Red demands which they believed might lead to American recognition of the East German government. The American Red Cross then began negotiations with the East German Red Cross for release of the men.

Final arrangements were made last week by Robert S. Wilson, American Red Cross director of operations in Europe, and Dr. Werner Ludwig, president of the East German Red Cross.

The men arrived looking cheerful and in good health, but the strain of the uncertainty of their imprisonment still showed on their faces.

They were turned over to American Red Cross authorities at Hof on the West German border and flown to their 3rd Armored Division headquarters in Frankfurt by helicopter.

Plane Crashed Near Beirut, Pilot Killed; Transport Fired On

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A U.S. Navy fighter plane crashed in the mountains about 15 miles east of Beirut, killing the pilot. He was the only man aboard. Navy spokesmen said the plane's engine quit while the pilot, on a training flight, was too low to bail out. He became the first American casualty since Marines landed in Lebanon Tuesday.

A big transport plane flying in more Marines from the United States was hit twice by small arms fire outside Beirut, one shot narrowly missing the navigator.

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said two Navy planes flying over Lebanon returned to their carrier with bullet holes in them. The men aboard the planes were not injured.

The shots may have come from rebels in Beirut fighting the pro-Western government that the United States is sworn to protect, or from excited welcome.

Cairo Radio claimed an Arab commercial airliner en route from Syria to Egypt was attacked by jet planes of "the occupation forces." It did not say whether the alleged attackers were U.S. or British.

In Beirut some Americans were caught up in the rebellion when rebels swarmed through the U.S. Mission School compound and attacked the main government buildings next door. Some windows were smashed in the mission, but no Americans were reported injured.

The main concern of the West was a possible Soviet move to counteract the arrival of U.S. forces in Lebanon and 2,000 British paratroopers in Jordan.

Some Western diplomats expressed the belief the Soviet Union might send "volunteers" to President Nasser's United Arab

Iraq's Gestures Fan Congressional Hopes For End To Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Conciliatory gestures by the revolutionary regime of Iraq fanned hope in Congress Saturday that a way may be opening for moves which could lead to some settlement of the Middle East crisis.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), a Foreign Relations Committee member, said a series of gestures by representatives of the Baghdad rebels indicates to him there is some possibility of dealing directly with the situation if the United Nations does not act.

Saleh Mahdi, ranking diplomat at the Iraqi Embassy, reported to the State Department Saturday the new regime is ready to cooperate with the United States for the evacuation of 194 Americans in Iraq if the department believes this necessary.

Mahdi said he sees no need for the Americans to leave, however. The State Department is sending in four chartered commercial planes for the removal of any Americans who may wish to leave Iraq.

Previously the Baghdad Radio had said the new regime would honor existing agreements with Western oil companies. The Iraqi Embassy reiterated this Saturday. Spokesman had announced also that the new regime would adhere to the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact.

"I don't think we ought to shut these gestures aside," Mansfield said in an interview. "Perhaps some way can be found to reach a basis of understanding which could lead toward a settlement. Some of the leaders have said they have no use for communism and have denied their revolt was Communist-inspired."

Secretary of State Dulles was reported to have told members of the Senate Appropriations Committee in a closed session Friday that this country would never intervene in any revolution it was convinced was indigenous and not inspired by outside influences.

While there was no indication Dulles feels these conditions apply to the Iraqi revolt, committee members said this government still lacks detailed information on what is going on in that country.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), a Foreign Relations committee member and former U.N. delegate, said he doesn't believe the United States can muster the two thirds vote needed to obtain General Assembly approval of a resolution to set up an international police force to replace U.S. troops in Lebanon.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union asked for an emergency session of the Security Council Saturday. The Soviet Union had vetoed the proposal.

Reds Around World Hold Demonstrations Against U.S., Britain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Communists organized more mass demonstrations around the world Saturday against American and British intervention in Lebanon and Jordan.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru was reported to have sent a message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev urging him to use moderation in the Middle East crisis in the interest of peace.

Canada also sought to exert a calming influence. Prime Minister John Diefenbaker said Canadian Foreign Secretary Sidney Smith, in Washington for British-American talks last week, sought assurances "that no action be taken that would extend any previous action by any nation beyond the bounds of Jordan or of Lebanon."

The largest of the Communist demonstrations was in Peking, capital of Red China. Peking Radio said about a million Chinese had paraded with flags and placards chanting: "U.S. troops get out of Lebanon" and "British troops get out of Jordan."

Soviet newspapers said the soldiers had declared in resolutions their willingness to do their duty "in defense of the state interests" (Continued on Page Seven)

U.S. Promises To Consider Proposal

By ROY ESSOYAN

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Saturday night proposed a five-power summit conference by next Tuesday to head off war in the Middle East.

He suggested Geneva as the site but said he would go anywhere, even to Washington.

Washington promised to give the proposal prompt consideration. At the same time the United States called on the Soviet Union to "cooperate with other members of the U.N. security council to assure the independence and integrity of Lebanon."

The statement of U.S. reaction was issued by the State Department after Secretary of State Dulles had conferred by telephone with President Eisenhower, who is at Gettysburg, Pa.

The United States did not reject the idea of a summit meeting openly and officially although privately authorities considered that the wording and the instant publicity given it left no doubt that it was another move in Russia's massive campaign to convince the world that the Western powers are risking an outbreak of war in the Middle East and doing so by illegal aggressive action.

Khrushchev noted that both the United States and Russia have atomic, hydrogen and intercontinental weapons, and said: "However, we consider that at this responsible hour it would be wiser not to bring the white hot atmosphere to a boiling point..."

Khrushchev sent separate invitation messages to the heads of government of the United States, Britain, France and India and suggested U.N. Chief Dag Hammarskjold should attend.

Khrushchev's outlined plan apparently would have the chiefs of government call for an immediate standstill in the Middle East—where U.S. troops are in Lebanon and poised in forward staging areas of Turkey, and British forces are in Jordan and posed on Cyprus and elsewhere.

The letters were delivered to the ambassadors of the four countries. They were unceremoniously summoned to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow at 10 p.m.

The ambassadors were summoned so hurriedly that one, Britain's Sir Patrick Reilly, appeared in a dinner jacket. Some others were without neckties.

"The decision of peace or war," Khrushchev said in his letters to Eisenhower and Macmillan, "depends on you people."

He charged that the Western Powers had brought the world to the brink of catastrophe in the Middle East.

"The aggressors," he said, apparently referring to the British and American forces landed in Lebanon and Jordan, "are playing with fire. Fire is always easier to start than to quench."

Khrushchev said he is ready to meet "any day and any time, the sooner the better."

"The Soviet government is ready to meet at any place, including Washington if for any reason Geneva or the capital of some other neutral country should not suit the Western Powers," Khrushchev said.

"Most important is not to delay, not to waste precious time, for the guns have already started firing."

Khrushchev warned the Western Powers that the Soviet Union possesses "ballistic rockets of all varieties, including intercontinental."

"We know," he said, "that the United States has atomic and hydrogen bombs, that you have an air force and a navy."

"But you will know that the Soviet Union also has atomic and hydrogen bombs, an air force and a navy plus ballistic rockets of all varieties, including intercontinental."

Khrushchev's reference to ballistic rockets was the only direct threat in his letters.

He did not mention the ominous military maneuvers launched by the Soviet Union Friday in the Transcaucasus Military Command, an area bordering on Turkey and Iran.

Neither did he refer at all to President Nasser or the United Arab Republic with which the Soviet government officially ranged itself Friday in a blast against American and British moves in the Middle East.

The first impression of diplomatic observers in Moscow was that Khrushchev was not threatening Soviet intervention in the Middle East.

If anything, they said, Khrushchev's latest correspondence appeared to amount to an offer to bargain with the United States over the fate of the Middle East.

The letter to Eisenhower included a comradely reference to the United States and the Soviet Union as Allies in World War II. This was another indication, a (Continued on Page Seven)

MIDEAST CRISIS AT A GLANCE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW—Premier Khrushchev proposed a five-power summit meeting by next Tuesday to put brakes on the Mideast crisis. He invited President Eisenhower and government chiefs of Britain, France and India, and suggested U.N. chief Hammarskjold sit in. Khrushchev said he'd go anywhere for such a meeting.

WASHINGTON—The Eisenhower administration said the Moscow summit conference proposal would be given prompt consideration.

LONDON—The first impression in London diplomatic circles was that Khrushchev is making essentially a propaganda move, but one worth study. It is being considered by Prime Minister Macmillan.

PARIS—The Moscow message arrived here early Sunday and is being forwarded to the country home of Premier De Gaulle.

UNITED NATIONS—Immediate reaction to the Moscow bid was cool or no comment. The Security Council meets Monday afternoon on whether to call the 11-nation General Assembly into session and other Mideast matters.

BEIRUT—The United States poured more forces into Lebanon.

AMMAN—British paratroopers in Jordan appeared to be getting American material reinforcement through Jordan's Red Sea port of Aqaba.

CAIRO—U.A.R. President Nasser in Damascus, capital of his Syrian Province, signed a mutual defense pact with the new revolutionary regime of Iraq. The Iraqis announced earlier they were severing their country from the Jordan-Iraq Union (now headed by Jordan's King Hussein with British support).

Ike Tells U.S. Forces Mission In Lebanon Is One Of Peace

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower told U.S. forces in Lebanon Saturday that they are on a mission of peace and that the United States has no hostile intent toward any people anywhere.

"You are helping the Lebanese people to remain free," Eisenhower said in a four-minute recorded radio message to the American forces.

"You are there of their invitation—as friends—to preserve for them the same freedoms that we have here at home."

The President recorded the message at the White House shortly before flying by helicopter to his Gettysburg country estate for an overnight respite from Washington tensions of the Middle East crisis.

He made arrangements for a fast return to Washington if necessary. The two helicopters that

Sub Gets Caught On Sandbar

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—The snorkel submarine Piper caught on a sand bar in calm seas off this fishing and resort town early Saturday, setting into high gear Navy rescue operations that ultimately were not needed. The sub was pulled free 65 hours later.

The Piper, out of New London, Conn., was riding the surface as dawn broke when it suddenly halted, held fast on Wood End Bar. It was making calibration tests along a measured mile course.

Word of its plight was flashed to New London and to Boston. The submarine rescue ship Sunbird sped from New London, and the Navy asked radio and TV stations in Boston to broadcast an appeal for the crew of another rescue craft, Skylark, to report to their ship immediately.

Before either vessel had reached this town, on the tip of Cape Cod, the Piper was pulled off its sandy perch by the Coast Guard Cutter Frederick Lee.

The Navy said it apparently had suffered no damage and proceeded under its own power to New London.

Brother, Sister Separated 50 Years By Wars, Reunited

MONTREAL (AP)—A Chicagoan and his sister, separated by two world wars, were reunited Friday for the first time in 50 years.

"I was numb all over," said Edward Seltzer, 65. "I couldn't say or feel anything. My sister couldn't speak either. She just cried."

Seltzer and his sister, now Mrs. Robert Coles, had exchanged letters for years while she was living in England. She moved to Montreal only recently.

In 1907 Edward, then 15, and his brother Bernard, 11, left Vienna for Chicago to join their father, an Irishman who had gone to make a home in America for his family.

Edward's two little sisters, Rose and Esther, were left in the care of relatives and were

Fear 3 Dead In Flash Floods; Train Trapped For 14 Hours

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Torrential rains of up to four inches caused a series of flash floods and earth slides in eastern Missouri Saturday and produced flood threats elsewhere in the state.

Three persons apparently drowned. A number of others had hair-raising experiences. A passenger train with 166 aboard was trapped and battered by a series of earth slides on the Mississippi River bank 30 miles south of St. Louis. It was stalled for nearly 14 hours.

A station wagon veered off a curve on U.S. Highway 61 near Old Appleton in southeast Missouri and plunged into Apple Creek, ordinarily a small stream, but swollen by the heavy rainfall. The two occupants perished.

Police at first thought three persons were in the vehicle.

In Jefferson County, just south of St. Louis, Mrs. Annie C. Wolfert, 63, was missing and presumed dead. A flooding creek swept her cabin home off its foundations. Several other homes in the area were washed away, and a number of families were evacuated.

The Missouri-Pacific's Southwestern, headed for Fort Worth, Tex., was trapped for 2:15 a.m. until 3:55 p.m. Saturday.

Automatic block signals warned the train's crew, and it came to a halt just before reaching a mound of debris on the tracks. A moment later other earth slides crashed into one of the train's 17 cars. Work crews of 100 men finally cleared the tracks.

Two St. Louis fishermen, Larry D. Stevens, 33, and Everett L. Tucker, 31, narrowly escaped with

New Admissions Aide

DAVID C. NEUHAUS

An assistant director of admissions, David C. Neuhaus, has been appointed at MacMurray College to help with both the men's and women's enrollment, Spencer Lane, Director of Admissions, announced Saturday.

Neuhaus, a 1949 graduate of Ohio State University, was on campus last week to review duties that he will assume in September. These include interviewing prospective students, and admissions counseling in northern Illinois.

He had been assistant director of admissions at Case Institute of Technology, where he began in 1955 as an admission counselor. After serving three years with the Army Ski troops during World War II, he was with several sales organizations including Sun-Life Assurance Co., of Canada.

The two MacMurray colleges mark the first midwestern experiment in coordinate education. This means that the two institutions are separate in most academic and campus activities, although sharing social life. For example, classes are separate in freshman and sophomore years, although mixed in the final two years. Separate student government, publications, and other organizations were set up by the men themselves last year.

The new college was dedicated Oct. 25, 1957, and a first class of 134 men completed the first year last month.

C. Of C. Urges Phone Service For Chapin

Pointing out that the residents of Chapin are an integral part of the Jacksonville business community, the local Chamber of Commerce has directed a letter to the Illinois Commerce Commission, urging that the General Telephone Company of Illinois be ordered to provide all telephone service to the community of Chapin.

President George Knoy of the Chamber of Commerce sent copies of the letter to the Commerce Commission and President Burton Sanders of the General Telephone Company. The letter follows: "Illinois Commerce Commission, George R. Perrine, Chairman, 202 State Office Building, Springfield, Illinois.

"Dear Sirs: "This organization, through our Board of Directors, wish to inform you that we strongly favor the petition by subscribers of the Farmers Telephone Exchange of Chapin, Illinois, to obtain telephone service from the General Telephone Company of Illinois.

"Since the residents of Chapin are an integral part of the Jacksonville business community, and since the General Telephone Company has facilities in surrounding communities, and since all long distance calls of Chapin residents already pass through the General Telephone Companies' switchboards in Jacksonville, we feel that the General Telephone Company of Illinois should logically provide all telephone service to the community of Chapin.

"We urge you to act favorably on the petition of the Chapin residents.

"Yours truly, "George Knoy, President, Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce."

Dear Sirs: The Farmers Telephone Exchange of Chapin, Illinois was organized by its subscribers for the purpose of operating a switchboard and controlling its connections only. Each subscriber owning his own telephone and line. The business of the Company is done by a Board of Directors, which includes the offices of President, Secretary, Treasurer and Manager.

For several years the subscribers have been seeking methods of improving this antiquated type service.

After considering several methods of relief the directors called upon the Illinois Commerce Commission for help on April 13, 1957. Mr. R. B. Thomas, Chief Engineer suggested, "that you contact the Home Telephone Company of Jacksonville or the General Telephone Company of Illinois for the purpose of taking over the Chapin Exchange and providing adequate telephone service in Chapin and vicinity. If these companies are not interested in taking over the property we suggest that you file a petition with the Commission and the matter will be set down for hearing."

Following the suggestion of the Commission the Home Telephone Company of Jacksonville was contacted. The owner stated that he was financially unable to take care of us and the service he was providing in many parts of his exchange was a very poor type service, little if any better than our own. We found out in this investigation he was operating in two incorporated towns without a franchise to do so. At this point it was decided to ask the General Telephone Company for relief. This Company informed us they were unable to grant us service at this time.

Petitions were then circulated in the territory and 140 of our 208 subscribers promptly signed them along with an additional 50 people, who had no telephone service at the present time but who were interested in the modern dependable telephone service the General Telephone Company could provide.

The General Telephone Company was again approached in January 1958. They made a study of the matter and informed us in March that they were not interested in us.

Acting upon the suggestion of the Commerce Commission our petition was filed and was set down for hearing July 2, 1958.

In an effort to save the expense and time of a hearing the Company was again approached but to no avail.

At this time the Chapin petition is under advisement by the Commission.

The residents of Chapin and vicinity feel that they are a part of the Jacksonville business community. The Jacksonville exchange is the second largest in the State owned by the General Telephone Company. All long distance calls from Chapin go through the Jacksonville exchange. Chapin is almost completely surrounded by General Telephone Service.

It seems to the residents of this area, under these conditions a tragic thing that a man's house could burn down because he cannot telephone his own fire department. A good many families who are unable to obtain any kind of service are extremely concerned what they would do in the event of any serious emergency.

Richard Wilson, Chapin, Ill.

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — With elaborate safaris to Cut and Shoot, Tex., and whatnot, Bill Rosenzohn, new to the beak busting business, is making a frenzied attempt to quickly sell the Floyd Patterson-Roy Harris fight to the public.

There isn't much time, for this manufactured match is down for Wrigley Field, Los Angeles, Aug. 18, with only the immediate territory blacked out of closed circuit television, the one hope to get the production off the hook.

The Teleprompter people, promoting the show with Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, at first talked blithely of the largest closed circuit TV audience in history. What they overlooked was that there is no demand for the fight. The blunt truth is that interest largely is confined to downtown Cut and Shoot (pop. 192).

The promoters first realized that the selling job was going to be considerably tougher than expected when they invited a Pittsburgh sports editor on a junket to Harris' home in the thickets, 45 miles north of Houston.

"Can't afford to waste the time," replied the sports editor, "because Pittsburghers never heard of Harris and care little about Patterson."

REMINDED THAT the fight was for the world heavyweight championship, the sports editor said the title no longer was worth a peso unless worthwhile active combatants were fighting for and defending it. He expressed doubt that a moving picture house in his area would make any sort of a guarantee for the fight telecast.

While Harris is undefeated, the backwoods schoolteacher with the back muscles is still considerably short of being Texas' answer to Alaska's admittance to the Union. Sure, the very name of the little pine cabin community from which Roy hails lends itself to descriptive writing.

The challenger is quick enough to take advantage of a highly unusual set-up. When his footwork was faulty, for example, the newly tagged Lion of the Alamo quipped: "Fancy footwork is like the curl in a pig's tail. Little more style but no more pig."

Writers will soon run out of back country talk and words describing Roy's quaint kinkfolk, however, and the question remains: "How good can the guy fight?"

EXCEPT AS AN AMATEUR, Harris has never boxed out of Texas. He marches front and center against Patterson after a stretch in the Army and having been idle 10 months, and the strength of winning decisions from Willie Pastrano, Bob Baker and Willie Besmanoff, none of whom could dent Ford Frick's poor imitation of Judge Landis' old felt hat with an ax.

When Nat Fleischer saw Harris as a very raw hand in 1956, Lou Viscusi, who has handled the challenger as carefully as D'Amato has nursed Patterson along, told the editor of Ring magazine that he would keep his tiger in the hindwoods until he got a crack at the crown. That's precisely what he has done and he's getting a $100,000 guarantee along with the big chance.

No fighter ever took an easier road to the championship than Patterson, who with the exception of ancient Archie Moore, hasn't tackled one of the currently ranked first 10. And Patterson has treaded an even softer path since scaling the heights. He has made just one start since Moore declined to make any sort of a stand against him, Nov. 30, 1956, and that a year ago against a rank amateur, Pete Rademacher.

Under the circumstances, the Patterson-Harris match is a tough bill of goods to peddle.

Pale Hose Decision Last-Place Nats, 7-6

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chicago White Sox held out for a 7-6 victory over the Washington Senators Saturday after they jumped Pedro Ramos for four runs in the first two innings and their relievers fought off the Senators the rest of the way.

Pitching — Early Wynn, White Sox, beat the Senators 9-2 with four-hitter, striking out 11 and working on a shut out until a pair of unearned runs blew it up in the eighth.

Hitting — Frank Malone, Pete Runnels, Red Sox, drove in seven runs between them in 11-9 victory over the Tigers. Malone's grand slam homer cracked a 6-6 tie in the seventh. Runnels, with five hits, three of them doubles, took over the American League batting lead with a .334 average.

Home runs — Chicago, Smith (8), Washington, Yost (4), Lemon (17).

James Cox Brady holds the record for money won during a single Monmouth Park season. His horses earned $84,925 in 1933.

Seven Members Of Curtis Team To Get Hard Workout

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Seven members of the recently named U.S. Curtis Cup team will get a stern competitive workout next week in the Women's Western Amateur golf tournament.

The prestige-filled meet, being held for the 38th consecutive year, has attracted a field of about 160, topped by the Curtis Cup players who will face Britain's best in West Newton, Mass., Aug. 8-9.

All team members but Joanne Gunderson, Kirkland, Wash., will be on hand for the test over the heavily-wooded, par 36-37-73 Oak Park County Club course. The links stretch 6,380 yards, interlaced by a stream which must be crossed 14 times.

The Curtis Cup players are Meriam Bailey, Evanston, Ill., the defending champion; Mrs. Ann Casey Johnston, Mason City, Iowa, runner up last year in four major tournaments, including the Western Amateur; Anne Quast, Marysville, Wash., 1956 winner; Barbara McIntire, Lake Park, Fla., 1957 North and South title; Anne Richardson, Columbus, Ohio state champion, and Polly Riley, Fort Worth, five times a member of the Curtis Cup squad and twice a winner of the Western Amateur.

Among other contenders are Margaret Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., the 1952 winner and 1958 Trans-Mississippi champion.

The 32 low scores in Monday's 18 hole qualifying round will enter championship match play starting Tuesday and leading to the 36 hole final Saturday.

Washington Crew Beats Leningrad's Trud Rowing 8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOSCOW (AP)—The University of Washington's rowing crew avenged its defeat at Henley Saturday by sweeping to a length and three-quarters victory over Leningrad's Trud eight on the waters of Moscow's Khimi Reservoir.

Despite the tension caused by the Lebanon crisis, the Americans' front-running triumph in the 2,000 meter (mile, 427 yards) race was cheered heartily by a crowd of more than 4,000 fans. The spectators were mainly Russians but the onlookers included U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, his wife and most of the American Embassy staff.

Foreigners rarely are permitted in the reservoir area, the center of a military installation. But the ambassador and his party as well as many American tourists were allowed to watch the regatta. It is one of many events in the U.S.-Russian sports and cultural exchange.

An American men and women's track team is scheduled to leave New York by plane Sunday night for a dual meet with the Russians in Moscow, July 27-28.

The Russians were extremely cordial and the program went off without a hitch. A public address system played American jazz throughout most of the regatta and the man at the controls said the music was tape recorded from Voice of America broadcasts.

The Huskies, who were unbeaten until they lost to the Trud crew at the Royal Henley Regatta on July 3, were to be guests of honor at an official sports reception Saturday night.

Russians, as expected, beat the Americans in the two other events on the program.

Vyacheslav Ivanov, Russia's 20-year old Olympic sculling champion, won his specialty in 7:57 for the 2,000 meters as Tom McDonough finished fourth in 8:25.

McDonough is a military policeman from Philadelphia. Juris Tjukalov, Russia's 1952 single sculls champion, was second and Alexander Berkoutov, another Olympian, was third.

In the three-shell pair-oars race, John Fish and Gene Phillips, a couple of Washington spars, finished third behind the Central Army Club of Moscow and Moscow Dynamo. The winners were timed in 7:42.8 and Washington's twosome in 8:10.6.

Round Table In Photo Finish In Armour Race

Ridden for the first time by Bill Hartack, Travis Kerr's great four-year-old money winner covered the mile and a furlong on Arlington Park's grass course in a track record matching time of 1:48 2-5.

Aysha led from the start with Clem in close second and Round Table cruising along in fourth for most of the time. Entering the stretch, Clem took the lead, Round Table moved up and they battled head to head until the eighth pole on.

Round Table, the 7-10 favorite, paid $3.40, $2.60 and $2.20. Clem returned $4.40 and $3.50 and Hoop Band $3.20.

Round Table remained unbeaten on the grass, making this his sixth turf victory. The colt now has 31 triumphs in 45 starts and his winning prize of $56,000 boosted his total earnings to $1,161,014. The second all-time money winner, $127,551 behind Nashua's record.

Largest Field Ever To Compete In Western Meet

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — With entries from 17 states, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, the largest field in history is expected to compete in the Western Junior and Boys Tennis Championships next week.

The meet, starting Monday with singles in both divisions, will be reduced to the quarter finals by Thursday. The semifinals Friday will set up championship action Saturday.

Earl Buchholz, Jr. of St. Louis, would have been a prime favorite but decided to withdraw Friday. Buchholz wired tournament officials and said he needed a rest before competing in the Kentucky Junior Invitation tournament in Louisville. However, the field will be the best balanced in the seven years the tourney has been held on University of Illinois courts.

Neely and Jim Shaffer are rated top contenders for the junior doubles crown.

Boys singles and doubles will show an almost entirely new field. All of last year's leading boys have advanced into the junior division.

Monzant, Giants Trip Pirates, 5-4, To Hold Onto Half-Game Lead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two home runs parlayed with Ramon Monzant's effective relief pitching Saturday sent San Francisco to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh, maintaining the Giants' one-half game hold on first place in the National League.

The power-hitting home club collected four of its runs on homers—a solo blast by rookie Willie Kirkland in the second and a three-run shot by Ray Jablonski in a fourth-inning pinch hit role. Monzant came on in the fifth to blank the Pirates for four innings. The Giants broke a 4-4 deadlock in the last of the fifth on singles by Orlando Cepeda and Kirkland plus a sacrifice fly by Daryl Spencer.

Monzant, third San Francisco pitcher, won his sixth. He has lost seven.
Bob Porterfield, third of four Pittsburgh hurlers, drew the loss, his fourth against a single victory.

Home runs — San Francisco, Kirkland (8), Jablonski (10).

CHICAGO (AP) — Right-hander Joey Jay, gradually turning into the ace of Milwaukee's pitching staff, cooled the upstart Chicago Cubs 3-2 Saturday with a snappy five-hitter.

A roaring crowd of 37,918 saw the Braves take a 3-0 lead in the first inning.

Although clipped for homers by Ernie Banks in the second inning and Dale Long in the seventh, Jay turned in his fifth triumph against three losses.

Cub starter Moe Drabowsky, testing out a strained elbow, didn't last very long. After getting the first man out, Drabowsky gave up a double to Mel Roach, a single to Frank Torre and a two-run homer to Hank Aaron before departing. Excellent relief work by Glen Hobbie and Don Elston was wasted.
Milwaukee 300 000 000-3 8 0
Chicago 010 000 100-2 5 0

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Tuttle's three-run homer in the 12th inning off ace Yankee relief pitcher Ryne Duren brought the Kansas City Athletics a 6-4 victory over the league-leading New York Yankees Saturday.

With one out in the 12th, Bud Daley, Kansas City's third pitcher, slashed a double to left, Mike Baxes followed with a walk and then Tuttle smashed into the lower right field seats for his fifth homer of the season.
After getting Jerry Lumpe on a liner to short in the bottom of the 12th, Daley wound up in trouble when Bill Skovron, Country Slaughter and Norm Siebern singled in succession for one run and men on first and second. It was Siebern's fifth single in six trips.
When pitcher Don Larsen was sent up to bat for Bobby Richardson, ex-Yankee Ralph Terry replaced Daley. Terry came through by fanning Larsen and getting Elston Howard to hit into a force play.

BICYCLE RACE TO GAUL
PARIS (AP) — Charles Gaul of Luxembourg, won the 1958 Tour de France, the world's greatest bicycle race, Saturday although the final leg was won by Pierino Baffi of Italy.

More than 40,000 bike fans were jammed into the stadium for the finish and other thousands lined the streets. The 2,676 mile tour lasted 24 days. Saturday's segment was 200 miles over the rolling roads approaching Paris.

Vito Favero, another Italian, was second in the over-all standings, finishing three minutes behind Gaul.

Pitching coach Mel Harder of the Cleveland Indians had a 223-186 record for 29 seasons with the same team.

Snead Seizes Third Round Lead In PGA Meet With 207 Tally

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
HAYVERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Sam Snead, at his glorious best, charged in with a three-under-par 67 Saturday and seized the third round lead in the Professional Golfers Assn. Championship with a score of 207.
The man in the traditional straw hat, winner of 100 tournaments but never the National Open, took a one-stroke edge over Bill Casper of Apple Valley, Calif., who missed a tying 10-foot putt on the final green. Casper shot 68 for 208.
Snead took the Llanerch Country Club course apart for 16 holes and then reverted to character. He three-putted the 17th and missed a birdie four-foot putt on the 18th which would have shaved him off the front.
Dow Finsterwald, who shared the halfway lead with Jay Habert at 139, had to sink a difficult 10-foot putt on the final green for a 70 which gave him third spot in the packaged finish at 209.

Boyer's Poke In 10th Enables Cards To Snap Losing Streak, 1-0

Knox Says He Won't Play Pro Football In '58

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ken Boyer picked out the first pitch in the top of the 10th inning for his 19th home run of the season Saturday and it produced a 1-0 victory for the St. Louis Cardinals over the Cincinnati Reds. It ended a seven-game losing streak.
Boyer's blow over the left field wall broke up a brilliant pitching duel between Larry Jackson of the Cards and Alex Kellner, an American League castoff who was making his first appearance for the Reds as a starting pitcher.
Through the first nine innings only two base runners got as far as third base.
Kellner allowed only eight hits and Jackson gave up but six singles.
But in the top of the 10th Kellner elected to feed Boyer a slider as the first pitch and it went out of the park.
St. Louis 000 000 1-1 8 0
Cincinnati 000 000 0-6 1
Jackson and Smith; Kellner and Bailey.
Home run—St. Louis, Boyer (19).
"As you know in the past, the decisions regarding my actions have unfortunately not been my own. When this has been changed, I look forward to resuming my career in pro football."
Knox was suspended last fall after playing one game for the Bears on the allegation he skipped practices—which Knox denied.

N. CENTRAL PLANS TO BUY 5 BIGGER, FASTER PLANES

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—North Central Airlines, one of the nation's largest local service airlines, announced plans Saturday to borrow five-million dollars to buy five bigger, faster planes.
The announcement was made by Arthur E. A. Mueller of Wausau, North Central board chairman.
He said the money would be used to purchase five Convair 440 planes. North Central now flies a fleet of 27 DC-3s.
The airline hopes to place the new Convairs in service by next June 1. Convairs are twin engine planes which can carry 44 passengers, nearly twice what a DC-3 can handle. They have an air speed of about 300 miles per hour. North Central serves 53 cities in nine states.

MANY A SLIP—But this one did not prevent Neale Fraser from going to the final of the Wimbledon singles, where he lost to his countryman, Ashley Cooper. The Australians next big step will be the United States Championships at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 29-Sept. 7, when the other star of their squad, Mal Anderson, defends in singles.

Strong Bay Takes 1st Stakes Win In Westerner

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Strong Bay, a California colt seeking his first stakes triumph this year, got it in a rousing battle Saturday as he won the $116,900 Westerner at Hollywood Park.
Jockey Manuel Ycaza and the bay gelding fought off a stirring challenge in the run to the wire from the favorite, C. W. Smith's Indiana colt, Hillsdale, to win the $70,800 pot by a nose or so.
The inquiry sign flashed on as soon as the race ended and the stewards disqualified the second place finisher, Hillsdale, moving him to third, and elevating The Shoe, who ran third, to second.
The Indiana-bred Hillsdale, ridden by Ralph Nevers, was the betting favorite.
The time for the mile and one quarter was 2:02 3/5.
Strong Bay, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Camp, paid $8.60, $4.20 and $2.80. The Shoe $4.60 and $3, and Hillsdale $2.60.

Stuart Hemphill Breaks Three Ozark A.A.U. Swimming Marks

A determined and courageous bunch of swimmers from the Jacksonville Country Club covered themselves with glory in the Ozark A.A.U. Junior Invitational Swimming Meet for boys and girls between the ages of nine and 16 Thursday and Friday at Chain of Rocks State Park in St. Louis, Mo.
Stuart Hemphill, age 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hemphill, was the outstanding boy in the meet in winning three first place medals shown above. Hemphill also set three new Ozark A.A.U. records in the freestyle, breaststroke and butterfly. The most outstanding feat being the 18-year-old record he broke in the boys 9 and 10 40 yard freestyle, although he bettered the 49 yard breaststroke record by a full 3.5 seconds.

Stuart also broke the 40 yard butterfly mark by one second. Hemphill's winning ways were completed in less than 30 minutes of competition.
The Country Club swimmers had qualified 21 in the 34 events and 19 of these 21 placed in the finals. Six first places were garnered by local swimmers—3 by Stuart Hemphill, one each by Steve Bone and David Middendorf, and the freestyle relay team composed of David Middendorf, Mike Hartong, Charles Cole and Dave Bone.
It was a most satisfying trip for all and many pleasant surprises developed during the meet as only about half-a-dozen swimmers were being counted on for victories.
There were 18 teams and 405 swimmers participating in the meet which was won by Shaw Park of St. Louis. This team has dominated first place for the last 11 years and currently rates as the number two Junior A.A.U. team in the nation. Jacksonville placed third in the team totals.
The next meet for the local swimmers will be Sunday at the local club pool with the tough Ivy Club swimmers from Peoria starting at 2 p.m.

Iraq New Regime Says Union With Jordan Is Ended

WASHINGTON (AP)—Iraq's revolutionary regime disclosed Saturday it has ended Baghdad's six-month old union with neighboring Jordan.
At the same time the Iraqi rebels who seized power last Monday pledged to keep oil flowing to Western customers and promised to cooperate in evacuating Americans who want to leave the revolt-scattered country.
These three developments, reported in rapid fire fashion, were aimed at improving tense relations with Western nations while undercutting the claim of young King Hussein of Jordan that he now is head of the Jordan-Iraq union.
The two Arab neighbors signed a federation agreement last Feb. 14 as a counter move to the United Arab Republic set up by Egypt and Syria. King Faisal of Iraq was proclaimed head of the Jordan-Iraq union May 19 with Hussein as his deputy.
The 23-year-old Faisal was, reportedly slain in the violent coup which swept the pro-Western government out of office in a few hours Monday. Hussein then declared himself chief of the union and threatened to lead his army into Iraq to avenge his cousin's death.
"As far as we are concerned King Hussein has no relationship whatsoever with us now," the Iraq Embassy said Saturday.
Salem Mahdi, Iraqi embassy diplomat who said he now represents the rebel regime, reported he informed the State Department of this Saturday.
The department confirmed receipt of the message but declined to comment on it. Mahdi has been a formal diplomatic status, it was pointed out, since the United States has not recognized the new regime.
The department revealed, however, that the U.S. ambassador in Baghdad had approached the rebel leaders and obtained promises that Americans will be allowed to leave the country without interference.

Four chartered Pan American Airways airliners, now in Ankara, Turkey, will begin the mass air evacuation within a few days.
Some 1,200 of the 1,964 Americans in Iraq are understood to be ready to leave, including many wives and children of diplomats and U.S. military personnel.
Oil from Iraq, the world's sixth biggest producer, apparently will continue to flow in accord with existing contracts.
The Iraq Embassy gave assurance to this effect because, it said, of the great importance of oil to the world economy.
All necessary steps, have been taken, it said, to protect oil wells, pumping stations, pipelines and other equipment of the British-operated oil company in Iraq.
AIR FORCE PLAYS LACROSSE
DENVER (AP)—The U.S. Air Force Academy has brought the old Indian game, lacrosse, to the western college sports scene. As the first undergraduate team to play the game in this area, the Falcons beat the Denver Lacrosse Club 5-4.

Southpaw Hal Woodeshick, who has two major league starts and decisions resulted in defeats with Detroit in 1956, gained his first complete game with a seven-inning shutout for the Indians. Earl Averill, up from San Diego with Woodeshick, hit a three-run homer off loser Chuck Beaumont (6-3).

Friday Baseball

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers had at it Friday night, swatting 33 hits between them as Boston won 11-9 on Frank Malzone's grand-slam homer.
That gave the second-place Red Sox a game on New York, beaten 2-1 by Kansas City and Dick Tomaneck, who came within an out of being the first left-hander to shut out the Yankees in two years.
Chicago beat Washington 9-2 with Al Smith's slam and five RBI backing up Early Wynn's four-hitter. Cleveland, 7-6 for the season against Baltimore, checked the Birds' bid for the first division with a 5-1 victory.
In the National League, San Francisco replaced Milwaukee in first place, taking a half-game lead with a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh after the Braves had lost to Chicago 8-3. Cincinnati swept the Reds from St. Louis, 8-3 and 2-1. Los Angeles beat Philadelphia 8-6.
The Red Sox, who have won five straight for a 31-game cushion over third place Detroit, collected 18 hits, five by Pete Runnels, who had three doubles and took the AL batting lead with a .344 average. The Sox, 6-5 for the season with Detroit, overhauled a 5-1 Tiger lead, then blew a 6-5 edge after Malzone's homer in the seventh off losing reliever Bill Fischer (3-6). Murray Wall (5-7) was the winner in relief of right-hander Bill Monbouquette.
The A's who had lost eight in a row to Don Larsen since 1954, beat the Yankee right-hander in the first two innings. Singles by Mike Baxes, Bill Tuttle and Roger Maris, the first three men up, scored one and singles by Frank House and Baxes got the winner. Larsen (7-4) allowed only three hits the rest of the way. Tomaneck (5-4) gave up 11 hits, but had a shut out until pinch-hitter Yogi Berra's lead-off single with two outs in the ninth.
Wynn (9-8) fanned 11, pacing the 100 mark for nine consecutive seasons, and had the Nats shut out until the eighth, when unlikely errors by Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox allowed two unearned runs. Rookie John Romo (1-1) lost it.

The Cubs got their runs on homers. Walt Morin's two-run shot in the eighth bagged it off Carl Willey, now 2-3 with his third consecutive defeat. Ernie Banks hit a three-run homer, his 25th, in the third, but the Braves, who had won four in a row, tied it on Hank Aaron's 19th homer in the sixth after Joe Adcock's 11th set off a two-run fifth. Unbeaten Johnny Briggs went all the way to win his fourth.
Don Newcombe, whose only other victory this season also is over the Cards, gave up home runs by Pinch-hitter Joe Taylor and Joe Cunningham, but hit a two-run homer, a double and a single himself while winning the opener. Walt Droppa's three-run double put it away in the sixth.
Wilmer Mizell lost his seventh as the Reds scored two in the first without a hit on two walks, a passed ball and sacrifice fly. The Reds, just off a seven-game losing string, built a three-game winning streak on home runs by George Crowe and Frank Robinson in the nightcap. Robinson's 11th broke it up in the ninth off Bob Mabe (6-1). Bob Purkey won his 11th, blanking the Cards, who have lost seven in a row, on three hits after the first inning, when two singles, a walk and a fly ball scored their run.
The Dodgers won it in a six-run fifth inning with Steve Bilko hitting a two-on homer. Don Zimmer also homered for the Dodgers, while Chico Fernandez and Ed Bouchee homered for the Phils, who have lost seven straight. Carl Erskine won it. Jack Sanford lost it, both in relief.

Deranged Teacher Kills 2 Teen-Age Daughters, Self

BYRON, Ga. (AP)—A deranged college instructor gunned to death his two teen-age daughters, then killed himself Saturday.
The triple slayings apparently resulted from brooding over "too many moral and financial mistakes and bad choices."
Dead was Millard G. Mosley, 49-year-old mathematics instructor at the University of Florida; and daughters Jan and Jean, 17-year-old seniors at nearby Fort Valley High School.
A coroner's inquest reported that Mosley shot the girls and himself with a .32-caliber pistol.
Two notes written by the teacher were revealed at the inquest. There was no immediate explanation of their contents which read:
"I have made too many moral and financial mistakes and bad choices in my life to want to live. I have always loved my children extensively in spite of my bad choices. May God forgive me. I will all my property to my wife."
Police Chief Carl Ferguson said Mosley apparently drove to a farm he operated, shot Jan, then returned to his home and killed the other daughter and himself.
Jan was found dead in the rear of the blood-spattered family car. A robe and shirt had been thrown over her body.
Jean and her father were shot in a bedroom of an attractive six-room brick home which Mosley himself had built about four years ago in this middle Georgia town.
Mrs. Myrtle Mosley, 45, the wife and mother, ran in terror to the nearby home of her husband's parents. The father-in-law, Judge M. C. Mosley, retired Peach County probate judge.
Mrs. Mosley was prostrated with shock and could give no immediate account of the triple deaths.

Aussie's Smash World Record In British Games

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—Australia's fabulous swimmers smashed a world record and broke an Empire Games' mark Saturday night to top off 4 record-breaking days in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games. Seven empire track and field records were broken earlier.
A quartet of Aussie females shattered their own standard of 4:19.3 for the 440-yard freestyle relay with a time of 4:17.4 in winning the championship.
Right after the girls got through, four Australian men captured the 880-yard relay in 8:33.4. This bettered the Empire Games' record of 8:47.6 by another Australian quartet at Vancouver, B. C., four years ago.
The women's team, composed of Dawn Fraser, Sandra Morgan, Lorraine Crapp and Alva Colquhoun, easily outdistanced its rivals. Canada was second in 4:30 and England third in 4:31.5. The old standard was set by Australia's Olympic foursome of Fraser, Morgan, Crapp and Faith Leech.

Williams' Bloop Double Gives Orioles 3-2 Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dick Williams' bloop double to centerfield scoring two runs in the eighth inning gave Baltimore the margin of a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday night and undisputed possession of third place in the American League.
Williams delivered the clutch blow with two out and the bases full.
Hal Brown got credit for his fourth victory without a defeat although he gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth and Billy Loes finished up.
Gary Bell went all the way for the Indians, dropping his fourth game. He has won three.
Bell had trouble finding the plate in the eighth, giving up walks to Gus Triandos and Bob Boyd, who singled and doubled earlier. With Bob Nieman's single sandwiched between the walks, the Orioles had the sacks loaded when Williams lifted a double to short center.

Atlas Missile Explodes In Air

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas intercontinental missile fully powered for the first time with three mighty engines exploded high in the sky Saturday with a roar that shook the Florida coast.
The three engines, generating more than 350,000 pounds of thrust, propelled the mighty warhead off its launching pad at 12:36 p.m. Forty-five seconds later, it blew apart with a brilliant flash of orange flame.
Observers who witnessed the launching from a vantage point inside the test center saw the shattered remains of the 85-foot long ballistic missile shower into the Atlantic Ocean just a few miles offshore.
A malfunction in the control system was blamed by the Air Force for the spectacular mishap.
Driving the Atlas were two booster rockets and a main sustainer engine. The three units packed enough power to send the missile over the full 6,000-mile intercontinental range at speeds up to 15,000 miles an hour. Reportedly, however, the test was aimed only for a distance of about 2,500 miles.
Convair Astronautics, developer of the Atlas, said it also carried for the first time a wedge-shaped tactical nose cone designed to separate from the main rocket. In event of war, such a nose cone would house the missile's hydrogen warhead.

BOY OF 12 DEVISES RULES FOR ONE-MAN FOOTBALL
CLEVELAND (AP)—Maybe the college and professional football rules magnates ought to look up 12-year-old Henry Nelson Ross II of Cleveland. He might be able to do something about complicated football rules.
The lad was given a game with instructions so that two players could play. He became so adept at the game "Piskin" that he ran out of challenging playmates. He then devised a set of rules so that one boy could play the game.
Henry mailed his one-player rules to Robert E. M. Barton, president of the game company. Henry was told his one-player rules now are part of the game. He also received $100 from the company.

Williams Socks 2-Run Homer In 12th For 7-6 Boston Win Over Tigers

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams answered mingled catcalls with a two-run homer in the 12th inning Saturday for a 7-6 Boston triumph over Detroit that extended the Red Sox victory streak to six.
Jeered by some of the crowd for misplaying a double and grounding out with the winning run on third in the ninth inning, Williams belted a high drive off loser Hank Aguirre with pinchhitter Jim M. Piersall aboard.
Lefty Leo Kieley posted his fourth victory this season. He was making his fifth relief appearance in seven days.
Three times Boston had taken a one run lead and each time the Tigers knotted the count.
Williams let Al Kaline's smash get past him for a bagger in the eighth inning. Kaline took third on a long out and scored on Gus Zernial's sacrifice fly to left. Williams' throw was short and wide.
The Tigers went ahead 5-3 in the top of the ninth when Jim Hegan hit the third Detroit solo homer of the contest off Dave Sisler who has surrendered 14 goopher balls in 107 innings. Ossie Virgil and Harvey Kuenn had homered earlier.

With one out in the bottom of the ninth, Sammy White belted his third homer of the season into the bullpen in right center. Pinch-hitter Billy Klaus fled out but pinchhitter Lou Berberet was hit by a pitch.
Gene Stephens and Runnels then singled and it was 5-5. Williams grounded to first to end the inning.

Wichita Top Producer In Oakes Test Plots

Dale Hewitt, Scott county farm adviser, has released the results of the 1958 wheat and barley variety tests made by Royal Oakes of Bluffs.

The barley was combined under favorable conditions on July 1 and the wheat, also under good conditions, on July 9.

Wheat yields ranged from a high of 63.5 bushels per acre down to 47.7 bushels. The best barley made 69.5 bushels, almost twice as much as the low one.

Wichita was the top producer, although its stand was estimated at only 72%—which was by far the weakest stand in the test. The leader was followed by Racine, Todd and Concho.

Knox, the recommended soft winter wheat variety for this area, ranked sixth in the test and Tri-

Merry Doshans 4-H Girls Show Achievements

MEREDOSIA—The Merry Doshans 4-H Club held its local achievement day Wednesday afternoon in the high school home economics room, with the girls' mothers and Home Bureau members as special guests.

The pledge to the flag opened with meeting, followed by the 4-H Pledge given by the girls. Mrs. Wayne Hammitt, the leader in charge of foods project, introduced the girls who have demonstrated: Patsy Schleker, making a foundation cake; and Barbara Potter, who prepared a quick-mix white cake.

The girls in the clothing projects modeled their garments as Mrs. W. G. Steinberg presented them. When each returned to her seat, she was given a pin for the proper year of membership by Mrs. A. H. Unland on behalf of the Home Bureau unit. Mrs. Hammitt asked the guests to look at the table of baked foods the girls had brought, to see the cakes and cookies before any were eaten. Handicraft articles made during the winter were displayed on other tables.

The July meeting of the Home Bureau was held while the girls finished preparing the refreshments.

Mrs. Marvin Schleker, chairman, conducted the Home Bureau meeting. Roll call was answered by telling "what I like about 4-H." There was some discussion about serving at the county fair on July 30; this unit's hours that day are 11 to 4. Mrs. Oscar Nortrup is the general chairman for the activity. Mrs. Schleker asked for cars to take the 4-H girls to Jacksonville on July 21 and 22, the county Achievement Days.

There will be no August meeting of the Progressive Unit.

LIVESTOCK-FEED RELATIONSHIPS ARE UNSTABLE

Present prices of livestock are unusually high in relation to prices of corn and other feeds. This unbalanced price situation for hogs, cattle, and lambs is not likely to continue for long. Either prices for livestock will decline, or prices of corn and other feeds will rise.

Since feed is being produced faster than it is being used, substantial price advances seem unlikely. Therefore, we expect to see marked declines in livestock prices over the next three or four years.

Note the following abnormal relationships. (All comparisons of current relationships are for June 1958, and are based on 10-year June averages, 1947-1956.)

The hog-corn price ratio was 18.2 compared with the 1947-1956 average of 13.2. The hog-corn price ratio is the number of bushels of corn equal in value to 100 pounds of live hogs. Thus, 100 pounds of hogs paid for 5 bushels more corn than usual. A 240-pound hog paid for an extra 12 bushels.

The beef cattle-corn price ratio was 18.0 compared with an average of about 13.2. This beef cattle-corn price ratio is the number of bushels of corn equal in value to 100 pounds of beef cattle (all classes and grades). Thus, 100 pounds of cattle would pay for nearly 5 bushels more corn than usual, and a 1,100-pound steer would pay for 52 bushels more.

The lamb-corn price ratio was 17.1 compared with 14.8. Thus, prices of lambs are also higher than usual in relation to corn, but not as high, relatively, as are prices of hogs and cattle.

In contrast with prices of meat animals, prices of dairy products are not far from their long-time relationships to prices of feed.

The butterfat-feed price ratio was 23.3 compared with a 10-year average of 20.9. The butterfat-feed ratio is the number of pounds of concentrated dairy rations equal in value to 1 pound of butterfat.

Milk-Feed Ratio O.K. The milk-feed price ratio was slightly more favorable to milk producers than the 10-year average. The June figure was 125, compared with the average of 112.

The milk-feed price ratio is the number of pounds of concentrated dairy rations equal in value to 1 pound of whole milk.

Prices of eggs and poultry were lower than average in relation to feed prices in June. The egg-feed ratio was 9.7 compared with the average of 10.0. This ratio is the number of pounds of poultry feed equal in value to 1 dozen eggs. The farm chicken-feed ratio was 4.6 compared with an average of 5.0. This ratio is the number of pounds of feed equal in value to 1 pound of chicken.

The broiler-feed ratio was 4.2 compared with the 10-year average of 5.3, while the turkey-feed price ratio was 7.4 compared with the average of 8.7.

The poultry- and egg-feed ratios are permanently lower than in the past because of increased efficiency in the conversion of feed to eggs and poultry.

Manganese-Lack Found In Mason County Soybeans

Manganese-deficient soybeans were found for the first time on several farms in Mason county recently, according to University of Illinois soil chemists. Soybean fields showing this deficiency have been in depressional areas of dark soils with a pH of 6.5 or higher.

Joe Fagetti, Mason county farm adviser, called on University of Illinois agronomists, who inspected the fields and sprayed some of the plants with a manganese solution. Inspections a week later showed that the treated plants had begun to look better.

This is not the first time a manganese deficiency has shown up in Illinois soybeans. In 1956 this condition was found in Kanakake, Will and Iroquois counties.

Affected soybeans show yellowing of the leaves. The veins remain green until the leaf approaches the white stage. When moisture is excessive, the leaves are often covered with brown spots. The deficiency seldom occurs over a whole field, but is usually in the depression areas. It is usually most widespread in cool, wet weather.

Although it may be too late to get a large yield response from the treatment, agronomists working with Fagetti have recommended spraying infected plants with 15 gallons of water per acre. Since little information is available on the effects of spraying, farmers are urged to leave four rows of affected plants unsprayed so that yield checks can be made this fall. University agronomists suggest that farmers who spray fields report the results to their farm advisers.

Rain Insurance Helps Jersey Co. Fair Break Even

JERSEYVILLE—The president of the Jersey County Fair Association, James L. Coombes reported today that the association will break even on this year's exposition.

This season's fair was one of the largest ever staged locally. Attendance was cut greatly on the big nights, Thursday and Friday, by violent thunderstorms in the area. Rain insurance is expected to make up the deficit for the two nights in question.

PRICE OF INCONSIDERATION

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—At least six Colorado School of Mines students will think twice before they stage another party raid.

They raided the girls' quarters at Colorado Women's College.

Mines officials ordered the youths to pay $100, the replacement price set on undergarments listed as missing by the girls, and for damaged screens and broken windows.

4-H Club Activities

The Happy Workers 4-H club met July 15, with Betty Curtis presiding for the Jacksonville unit.

The pledges to the American and 4-H flags were led by Sharon Grady and Martha Curtis. Roll call was answered with each member naming the favorite color. Sharon Grady read an article on safety.

Business taken up included a discussion of the club bake sale which will be held Saturday, July 18, at Vogue Fabrics.

A special number was presented by Trudy and Sheila Cress. The program consisted of a demonstration on bedroom flower arrangements by Marie Curtis.

Funds were judged and a style show was given by the members of the club.

The next meeting will be held July 28 at the home of Sharon Grady.

Guests at the July 15 meeting were Nancy Knepler, Mrs. Harold Fernandes, Janet Jackson, Mary Ward and Miss Frances Webb.

ADVICE FOR MOONWATCHERS

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Dr. Grant Fowles, University of Utah physics professor, has this advice for star-gazers who hope to glimpse the Army's Explorer or the Navy Vanguard satellites through telescopes.

"To look at the artificial satellites, a person needs a low power, wide angle lens. The satellites travel at such great speed it is impossible to track them in their orbit with a high power lens," he explains that a high power lens limits the viewable area.

What If It Gets Hot At County Fair Time?

What if it stays wet and cool for another week and then turns into the blistering 100 in the shade that August so often brings?

For one thing, it will bring tears to some young livestock feeders who will be showing their livestock at county fairs. Experienced showmen say that animals fattened this year "don't know what heat is. If they're moved into a hot tent they are going to suffer greatly, at best, and some of them are pretty apt to die unless they are given the very best of attention."

Strange surroundings and changes in feeding and watering often upset an animal. This means reduced water consumption and more danger of heat prostration or stroke.

Dr. Pickard, supervisor of the U. I. diagnostic laboratory at the College of Veterinary Medicine, gives the following suggestions for keeping animals in tip-top show condition:

1. Several days before the show, feed and water the animal in different areas of the farm to adjust it to changes.
2. Introduce the animal to any new watering and feeding equipment at the farm rather than at the fairgrounds.
3. Wet down the animal once or twice daily at the farm to help relax it and accustom it to good care.
4. Provide a safe means of loading the animal into the truck. This may involve building a new loading chute or repairing the old one.
5. Cover the truck bed with a canvas if the animal must be hauled during the hot part of the day.
6. When hauling hogs, cover the truck bed with sand and sprinkle with water. It is safest to haul hogs at night.

7. Make the animal as comfortable as possible at the fair. This may mean raising or lowering the tent drop, keeping an electric fan on during the hot part of the day or night, and wetting down hogs.

8. Guard against excessive cooling at night, from either a drop in temperature or from leaving the electric fan on.

9. Make certain the animal is as comfortable as its owner. Every time you drink a lemonade, give your animal a drink too . . . of water.

Most popular way to get a home loan today

Like millions of Americans you may be dreaming of building or buying your own home. If you are, chances are you need two important things—first, money for a down payment; second, a home loan to make up the difference. Our association specializes in helping you get both these things.

Last year, associations like ours throughout the U.S. made one out of every three home loans—1,000,000 of them totaling more than $10 billion. The Insured Savings and Loan way has, in fact, become America's most popular way to finance a new home. Here's why:

1. We know more about home loans because we make more of them.
2. You get friendly understanding from our staff which is experienced in home financing.
3. You repay your loan just like rent. A monthly repayment is usually set up to include principal, interest and property taxes.
4. While you're saving for the down payment, your money earns excellent returns, and is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government.

The President's decision to put American troops in Lebanon clearly was an anguished choice.

He concedes that serious consequences could flow from the move.

What Russia may do after the talk and the resolutions are disposed of is uncertain. That rabid Arab nationalists throughout the Middle East will be enraged is widely taken for granted.

The Marines who landed on the Lebanese coast are presumably under specific injunction not to seek combat but to serve insofar as they can as a strictly stabilizing and protective force. Obviously we hope to avoid another Korea.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the United Nations we did not regard our move as ideal and would withdraw our forces at the earliest possible moment.

That we made this plunge in spite of the risks reflects our realization of the immense peril following upon the sudden overturn of Iraq's pro-Western government by forces allied with Egypt's Nasser.

Our intelligence evidently had warned us of pro-Nasser plots in Iraq, Jordan and one other Arab land.

When the Iraq coup came off, we feared it would spark a chain reaction that would engulf the whole Arab world, including Lebanon already torn by two months of rebellion.

From this could come the almost total disintegration of America's and the West's position in the Middle East. Secondly, we felt it vital to reassure such staunch U.S. friends as Turkey and Iran that our pledges of support have genuine meaning. To stand aloof in the face of the direct appeal from the friendly Lebanese government would be to suggest to other friends that dependence upon us is not only futile but dangerous.

Our U.N. resolution urging establishment of a police force, indeed, our whole supporting argument for the troop landings, makes it plain we believe the U.N. really is the proper agency to step into the crisis.

We were disappointed that the U.N. observers' report on Lebanon, in minimizing evidence of intervention by Nasser, did not sustain earlier hopes of a police force. We were not persuaded that the report was accurate.

In fact we believe the events in Lebanon represent a new kind of "sneak aggression" contrasting sharply with the gross assault upon South Korea. And we fear that if successful outside intervention masked as internal rebellion—or capitalizing upon it—may set an ominous pattern for the future.

For a time we consoled ourselves in the thought the U.N. observers by their presence had reduced Nasser's interference and possibly improved the outlook for a solution not entirely unacceptable to the West. But the Iraq revolt ruined that prospect.

Now we have acted, and a train of events has been set in motion whose outcome cannot be foreseen. This could herald the decisive showdown in the long Middle Eastern struggle.

Casey's Bafflegab

There are the Washington Senators, American League, and then there are the senators in Washington. Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees has now demonstrated conclusively that he can beat 'em both.

In a decision which they must now be reviewing in closed session, the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee invited Stengel to testify on a bill to exempt baseball and other team sports from the anti-trust laws.

Casey, of course, has a reputation for kicking the king's English around. But there's always been a suspicion that sports writers, bent on building a legend, from time to time gave his syntax an extra nudge. His Washington appearance proved he can make it all on his own. Just two samples, folks.

Asked why baseball wants anti-trust exemption, the "perfesser" said: "Well, you can retire with an annuity at 50, and I further state that I am not a member of that plan. You'd think, my goodness, why not, and him 48 years in baseball."

Pressed to clarify, he added: "I wouldn't know, but I imagine to keep baseball going as high as baseball is as a sport, they (the owners) have gone into baseball and from the baseball angle."

Get it? Mickey Mantle did. He says he agrees.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Singers come and singers go, and only a few reach that golden circle of permanent stars.

Of the younger crop, Eddie Fisher seems most likely to join the Crosby-Sinatra-Come level. That's the impression you get when you see him perform on the Tropicana stage.

The guy is personable without being brash, modest without being phony. And how he sings! He is one of the few pop singers with enough voice to push aside the microphone and belt a song with no amplification. And he's got feeling, as when he sings "For My Friend," the title tune from "Around the World in 80 Days."

It's no wonder that Eddie was one of the few singers to survive the last TV season. And against gentle type, and a comedy team large odd. He was faced with the opposition of two top Westerners, Cheyenne and Wyatt Earp.

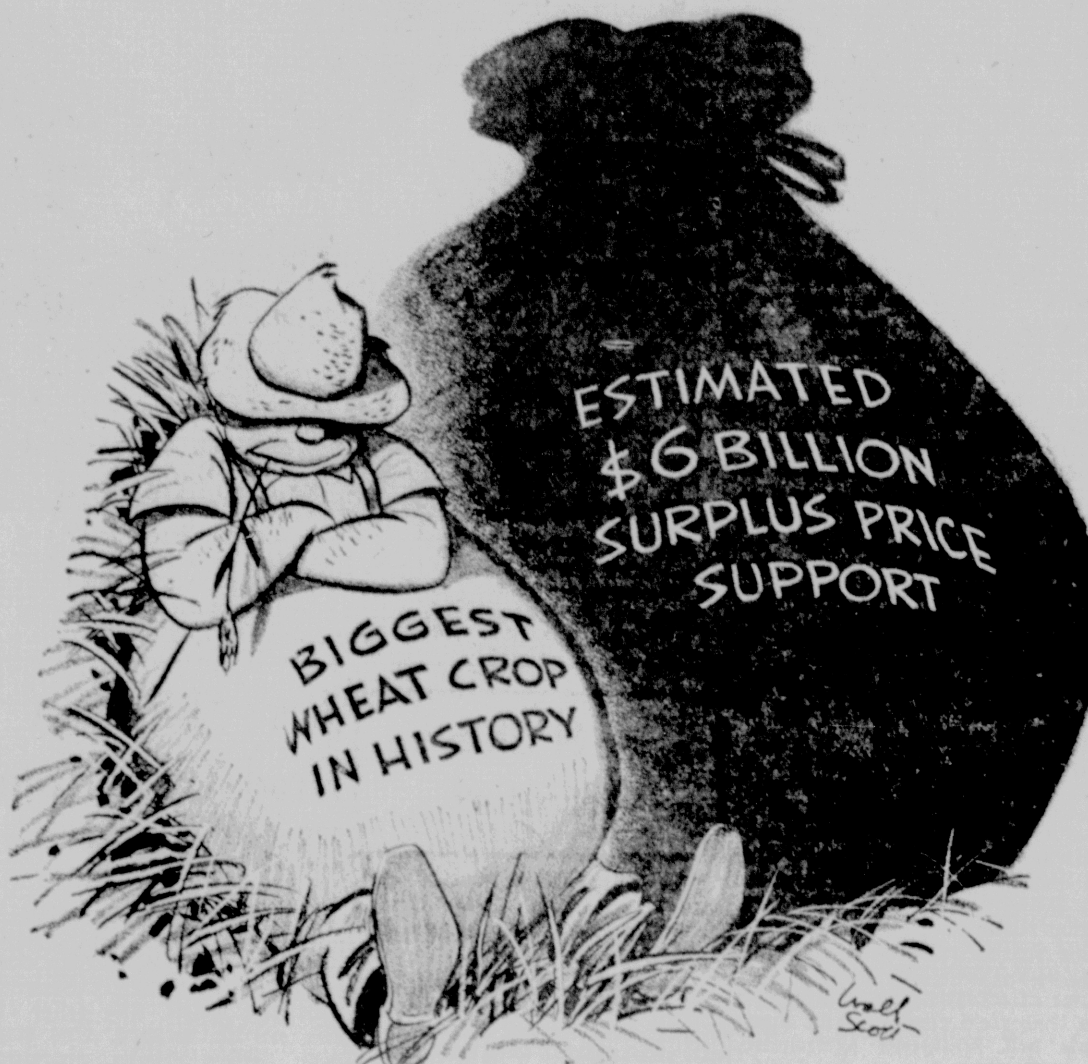

But as the season was closing, he and alternate George Gobel were holding their own and sometimes beating the cowpokes in the ratings.

"We'll be back next year in the same spot," said Eddie after his Tropicana show. "But it will be on a different basis. I'll do only 12 shows, not 16, and I'll be on George's show only three times instead of every week. And I won't be making so many guest appearances on other shows. I did about six last year."

Fisher admitted that the show got off to a slow start—"We made mistakes at first, and we'll make them too." But he profited from them, and his final shows were among the best of the season.

He has also admitted that the Fisher-Gobel chemistry did not come off too well. Both are the last TV season. And against gentle type, and a comedy team large odd. He was faced with the opposition of two top Westerners, Cheyenne and Wyatt Earp.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—U. S. Air Force Headquarters in the Pentagon has been pretty nervous lately over reports of crashes and near misses between civilian and military aircraft and the demands for better air traffic regulations. But they got the ultimate reaction the other day when a citizen wired them from California:

"Departing from Burbank, Calif., on United Airlines via Chicago to New York City. Leaving July 7, 9 p.m. Please ground all jets and all other flying craft which use same route because I want to reach my destination safely. Thank you for your cooperation."

SEN. ALEXANDER WILEY has found a fool-proof answer for critics who claim the Senate drags its feet on passing legislation. The colorful Wisconsin Republican complains that his colleagues simply can't hear what's going on in the Senate chamber.

He says the lack of a public address system prevents senators from hearing the vice president, majority leader and each other. He also blames poor acoustics for the small number of visitors and reporters who have been attending Senate sessions lately.

Wiley modestly insists that he is practically the only senator who can be heard all the time by everybody. His colleagues agree. One Democrat recently cracked: "If they install a mike at Wiley's desk, it will be sound instead of silence that drives people away."

PHILIPPINE diplomats are hailing the arrival of Pilar Lapus as the year's biggest boon to embassy entertaining. The charming wife of the embassy's Armed Forces Attaché, Ismael Lapus, is praised as the best cook in the Philippines.

Other night the Lapuses threw a big dinner party and treated guests to Chicken Adobo, a delicious dish that takes two days to prepare. After dinner, U. S. Naval Captain Sidney Freedman, who once served in the Philippines, exclaimed:

"I wouldn't be surprised if Washington hostesses don't start tapping Pilar's phone to learn her recipes. She's undoubtedly the best food improviser in Washington."

THEY TELL this story on Air Force Vice Chief of Staff General Curtis Le May, when he was head of Strategic Air Command:

GOOD OL' JOE PLUMBOB... THIRTY YEARS A SURVEYOR, AND NEVER OUT OF LINE A FRACTION OF AN INCH...

But the women who write to praise a mother-in-law nearly always refer to her as "my husband's mother."

Isn't there a possibility that a wife determines, to some extent, what her relationship to her mother-in-law is going to be like by the way she starts out thinking about her?

If the moment she marries, a bride starts thinking of her husband's mother as "my mother-in-law," the relationship may have a strike against it just from the start. For she is thinking of this other woman in relationship to herself, rather than in relationship to her husband.

Possibly the wife who always thinks of her mother-in-law as "Jim's mother" gets off to a better start. Because she never forgets for a moment that the older woman isn't just a mother-in-law, but a very important person—the mother of the man she married.

This is just a theory and I can't prove it. But it certainly wouldn't hurt for a bride to give the theory a try by refusing to speak or think of her husband's mother as her mother-in-law.

Anything is worth a try if it might help to make a relationship that is so often strained a pleasant and happy and mutually rewarding one.

The World Today

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If a shooting showdown should flare in the Middle East, the government can be expected to act quickly to combat the shortages and inflation which mark even brush fire wars.

Some of the tools to do this job are already at hand. Others probably would be asked quickly from Congress. And Congress could be expected to respond just as quickly, although there is no indication now such action will be needed.

Even a limited war in the Arab world could light a rocket under defense spending, put a bind on supplies of some strategic materials and open the way for new hikes in living costs.

Oil probably would stop flowing from Middle East wells to the big Western European markets. This might require another oil lift from the Western Hemisphere to Europe—the kind of operation carried on while the Suez Canal was blocked early last year.

Already on the books are regulations for the allocation of strategic materials. These could and presumably would be imposed very quickly to prevent waste of vital stocks.

Also available is another regulation to curb hoarding by controlling industry inventories of raw materials.

There is no provision in present law for controlling wages and prices. And credit can be curbed only indirectly through the Federal Reserve Board's power to tighten or loosen the money supply.

The Eisenhower administration is wary about imposing mandatory restraints on the economy. However, it is dedicated to fighting inflation.

To cope with the inflationary pressures of even a small war, it certainly would give quick consideration to asking Congress for broad economic controls.

After the outbreak of the Korean War, living costs jumped more than 7 per cent in the eight months before controls went into effect. The Truman administration called at first for voluntary restraint, but to little avail.

Republicans were sharply critical of the Democrats at the time for not putting on the brakes sooner. It is a good bet that the present Republican administration, with the advantage of hindsight, would move faster if a similar situation arose.

The landing of U.S. Marines in Lebanon already is having a different kind of effect on the home front.

The impact so far has been political rather than economic. Senate Republican Leader William Knowland of California has noted that Middle East storm clouds have affected the congressional weather vane. He foresees restoration of some House-voted cuts in foreign aid.

Some other observers predict that the trouble overseas will help the Eisenhower administration get more of what it wants in the way of reciprocal trade and defense reorganization legislation.

AT A BIG embassy party for Afghanistan's visiting Prime Minister Prince Sardar Mohammed Daoud, a guest noticed a round bulge in the coat pocket of a city detective who had been assigned as a bodyguard.

"Have you guys started carrying bombs?" he asked.

"No, that's an apple," the detective answered. "At every other reception I've attended, I've always gone home hungry."

What he didn't know was that Afghanistan diplomats had set up another buffet exclusively for bodyguards. When the detective finally left the party, he still had the apple in his pocket.

NATIONAL Capitol Democratic Club members are so cocky about the favorable political outlook that they have moved from their modest digs of the past few years to the most exclusive hotel in town. They have taken over almost half the main floor of the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel.

New club quarters include a large fancy bar and a huge dining room which features a ceiling that simulates blue skies.

"And that's how we feel about the whole political outlook in the U. S.," a member says. "Nothing but blue skies."

Lots of Other-Agers, but None for Lone Middle-Agers

BY MARIE DAERR

"A year ago, I was widowed at age 45. I have two young children. I was lucky to have my mother living with me. That meant I could go back to teaching."

"I belong to two PTA's and attend their meetings. I also sing with a woman's choir."

"But I admit I long for a little social life that includes the other sex."

"You'll probably tell me to join a church. I belong to one. My church has a Sunday night club for high school students, a college group, a young couples' club, a middle-aged couples' group, a women's guild—even a golden-age club."

"But there's nothing for the unattached person in his 40's or 50's. 'Night school?' I'm not enthusiastic. Frankly, at 5 p.m. I've had enough brainwork. I don't want to discuss world affairs, or study economics, or write a theme."

"I'd just like to play cards, or dance—or talk."

"And don't tell me to join a dancing class. A couple of my unmarried woman friends did that. They said the class was overbalanced with women. They felt so sorry for the smaller number of men, who had to do double duty, that they dropped out."

"I suppose you think I should be too interested in my home and my children to think about social life."

"But, when you're used to having a husband to be your partner, it's not easy to be alone. Somehow, PTA and choir and an occasional dinner with the girls from the office just aren't enough."

"I'm not asking for a date bureau. I'm just asking for a chance for some companionship."

"The teen-agers and the golden-agers get plenty of attention paid them. How about worrying a little about us unattached middle-agers?"

Q—I do quite a bit of baby sitting. Am I covered by Social Security?—C. L.

A—Yes, if you receive $30 or more in a calendar quarter from an employer. Your employer must forward both your and his share of the tax to the Internal Revenue Service. Baby sitting is not self-employment, so you can't pay the Social Security tax directly to the service.

Q—My husband, 62, has been in a TB sanatorium for more than a year and has been drawing disability insurance payments since July. I am 58 and have a job. Our daughter is 18. Would either my daughter or I be eligible for any benefits now?—L. V.

A—No. However, when your husband reaches 65, his disability insurance will be changed to old-age insurance benefits. When you reach 62, you can, if you choose, take a reduced Social Security benefit, based either on your husband's earnings or your own.

ily driving to church in a fringed surveyor, or more probably a wagon, is far in the past.

So, in formal practice at least, there has been a real decline in religion in the home. It is my hope that it has been in formal practice rather than in vital Christian influence.

A compensating factor has been in the increase and effectiveness of organized religious life and work for young people in the churches.

There was comparatively little of this at the time of which I write, when Sunday School on Saturday afternoon, or at some other single hour, was virtually the only contact definitely directed toward the young.

Under the changed conditions of religious directors and large programs, parents may be justified in leaving more to the churches.

But religious education, like education in general, has been under considerable questioning criticism as to its effectiveness and results.

It may be that despite the changed social conditions and difficulties, there is a need for revival and extension of all that was once best in religion in the home.

Look Twice at Mom-in-Law; She's Somebody's Mother

Over the years I have received a lot of letters from wives discussing their mothers-in-law, some praising them and some blaming them for most of their troubles.

The interesting thing about the letters is that, almost always, the wife who has mother-in-law trouble refers to her husband's mother as "my mother-in-law."

But the women who write to praise a mother-in-law nearly always refer to her as "my husband's mother."

Isn't there a possibility that a wife determines, to some extent, what her relationship to her mother-in-law is going to be like by the way she starts out thinking about her?

Raisin-Flavored Country Kuchen—Sheer Relaxation

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
In an old-fashioned, comfortable, family type of living, kitchen and other home-baked breads play a traditional part. So let's indulge in a loaf of country kuchen, enriched with raisins, almonds and spices. Just the wonderful aroma of it baking in the oven is enough to make a man feel more secure in a troubled world.

Country Kuchen
(Makes one 8-inch round loaf)
One (14½-ounce) package of hot roll mix, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon ground cardamom (or cinnamon), 1 cup chopped raisins, 1 cup light or dark raisins, 1 cup sliced citron, 1 egg, 1 cup melted butter or margarine.

Combine flour mixture from hot roll mix with sugar, spice, almonds, raisins and citron. Dissolve yeast according to package directions, using 1/3 cup less liquid than directed. Beat egg lightly and stir egg and butter into yeast. Blend into dry mixture. Cover bowl closely and let stand in warm place until doubled in volume. Turn out onto floured board and knead down. Shape into small round loaf and place on greased 8-inch cake or pie tin.

Crust top of loaf. Let rise 30 minutes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.

Raisins, either light or dark, have an important part in this excellent sour cream pie.

MONDAY'S DINNER: Fresh fruit cup, leftover veal a la king on fluffy rice, garden peas, soft rolls, butter or margarine, lettuce, sweet onion and cucumber salad, oil and lemon juice dressing, raisin sour cream pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Plan Parade For Chapin Centennial

CHAPIN—A general meeting of Chapin Centennial committee chairmen was held Monday night, July 1, at 8:15 p.m., at the American Legion Hall. The chairman, Deneen Brewer, presided.

It was decided that the parade will form at the high school beginning at noon on Saturday, Aug. 9, and will be ready to march at 1:30. The route of the parade will be from the high school past Mid West Order Buyers and Allen Lumber Company west to Earl Zulauf corner, then north to Carroll Brookhouse corner, east to Andrew Delmer's, south to Methodist Church, and back to the high school. The committee requests that no parking be permitted along the parade route.

The reviewing stand will be set up in the street between Russell Brookhouse's and Gertrude Goffinet's homes. The committee urgently requests that anyone planning to be in the parade send in an entry blank as soon as possible.

Discussion was also held about obtaining out of town bands for the parade. Upon motion by Donald Kolberer, seconded by Jean Tiemann, and carried, the group authorized Warren Lakamp to obtain bands at his discretion. Mr. Peebles, band instructor for Unit District 27, was present and stated that the Unit 27 band will march in the parade but it would not be possible for them to prepare for any other appearances on the program. Therefore, they will not be able to furnish the music for the pageant as had originally been planned.

The group discussed setting up a first aid station. Deneen Brewer will contact the County Health Department for assistance.

Virginia Werries reported on the little king and queen contest. The contest is open to children from 5 years of age up to (but not including) 11 years. The children must be entered by Aug. 1. They will be judged on appearance, poise and personality. Costumes will not count and they are requested not to wear their centennial costumes for this event.

Mrs. Werries, Janet Schumacher, Sandra Aufdenkamp and Helene Schults are in charge of the little king and queen contest. Jeanne Tiemann volunteered to get in touch with the members of the parade committee to see if their plans are completed.

Rides and concessions chairman, Wayne Bracewell, reported that his committee has mailed out 100 applications for exhibitors space. The joy lot will be used for this. They have signed one ride.

Tents and stands chairman, Miller Ober, reported that a large tent for the soup serving has been rented. The tent company representative inspected the location for the tent which will be set up west of the soup building across the alley entrance. Other tents will be borrowed.

Mrs. William Surratt, Sr., chairman of the Centennial Quilt committee, reported that work is progressing satisfactorily on the embroidery of names. They expect to put the quilt in frames at the Legion Hall. Mrs. Ada Smith will be in charge of the quilting. Anyone wishing to quilt may go to the Legion Hall and work at any time. The quilt will be auctioned off on Saturday night, Aug. 9. Fred Tiemann will be the auctioneer.

It was reported that the Past Noble Grand Lodge will have a booth at the centennial and sell needlework.

Entertainment chairman, Jeanne Tiemann, reported satisfactory progress with the program. The beard contest, women's costume contest, and children's costume contest will be held on Friday night, Aug. 8. The children's contest will include all children 12 and under. The women's contest will be for those 13 and over.

Another meeting will be held again next Monday night.

BILL WADE'S BABY CONTEST

NO SITTINGS
THIS WEEK

III: Here at the studio the contest seems to be getting a very big start. Already we have twenty-three towns represented and five different states. Gail Strang of Roodhouse was the fiftieth entry and receives a 16x20 Brintone portrait. Perhaps you didn't read in our ad that every fiftieth entry receives a 16x20 Brintone portrait — this not only applies to children thru six but also includes those up to ten who come in and take advantage of the special contest prizes.

This year we are conducting a pole as to how each mother heard about the contest — that is, which of our advertising pays off the best. So far, newspaper ads are walking away about two to one.

Next week, Monday thru Friday we will be out of town. We are going to the Professional Photographers of America convention to be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago. We hope to get a lot of new ideas that will help us become better at serving you.

We are particularly anxious to see how many portraits — if any,
Bill has accepted to hang at the exhibit. Bill needs only four merits to become a master of photography
— the highest honor paid to a professional photographer.

We are glad to have Delores Allison back with us at the studio again. Now I can stay home and take care of my kids — a job I thoroughly enjoy — but believe me, they keep me busy. Billy is on a whirlwind tour. He crawls into the kitchen cabinet and then he has me close the door — that is, his whirly bird. Today he flew down to the studio three times to see Bill. Sometimes he takes Kurt too — puts him in the cabinet behind. He also is on a Casey Jones bender — everytime the trains go by he and all of us around must go to the window to watch for the caboose. With children it is something new and different every day.

One day this week, my sister
Renée called and wanted to take Billy swimming. Billy was so excited that we had to go sit on the porch and wait for her although she wouldn't be by for an hour. He was ready to go — "Bye Mom, see you tomorrow!"

Surely hope that you plan to take advantage of our contest.
Fine portraits of your children such as Bill makes are a treasure to keep forever — not a luxury but a necessity for keeping alive the memories of your children as they are today for all the tomorrows to come. Plan to come in July 26 or anytime after that up till Aug. 16.
When we get back, hope I'll Be Seeing You.

Mary Wade

Space Guard Serial —

Jupiter's Moons

By Rip Barnsdall

Synopsis—Private companies have opened up space travel for the general public. Up until now all rocket flights had been under the control of the World Government.

Chapter 2: Lots Of Excitement

The announcement of Space Frontiers, Inc., created quite a stir. And when the destination of their Davy Crockett Expedition was announced, excitement really broke out all over the earth.

"We can now announce, that Space Frontiers, Inc., will start regular service runs to Jupiter's moons beginning in January, 1966. Flights have already been made to a number of the moons. Our space experts have declared them successful!"

If you have placed a reservation, make sure to complete your final payment before November 16, 2015. No more reservations please, as we have a waiting list of thousands.

For the best in space service, always look to Space Frontiers, Inc., located in all principal cities on earth. Two locations on the Moon.

Now people being what they are, words of wisdom from the more cautious experts of space travel had little effect. The spirit of adventure had taken over. Caution was thrown to the winds.

Trips around the world, a new autojet in the garage, a new visit in the living quarters were topics which had up to now been main points of discussion, but they now were no longer important. Everyone either talked proudly now of "my coming trip into space," or talked yearningly of the chance to make such a trip.

There were a number of quite capable men who were hired by these private companies, but there were also quite a number of men present in these organizations who saw the possibilities of space travel but didn't realize quite fully what some of these possibilities could mean.

Eager Space Pioneer

Flights to the moon were put into operation by a number of companies. Hundreds upon hundreds of eager space pioneers flocked aboard the various flights. They flew to the earth's moon and kept great numbers of freight rockets busy flying equipment to Moon City for their use.

But then official reports started coming back. A party of ten had lost their way on the moon. They had been found, but too late. No one in the party evidently knew too much about oxygenhelmet care.

Three prospectors had taken off on a hike. They never finished their trip. In fact they were never heard from again.

A ship owned by the Frontier Space Lines went out of control when three of the passengers, mentally upset by strain encountered upon passing through the gravity belt, rushed the control cabin and smashed the instruments within their reach.

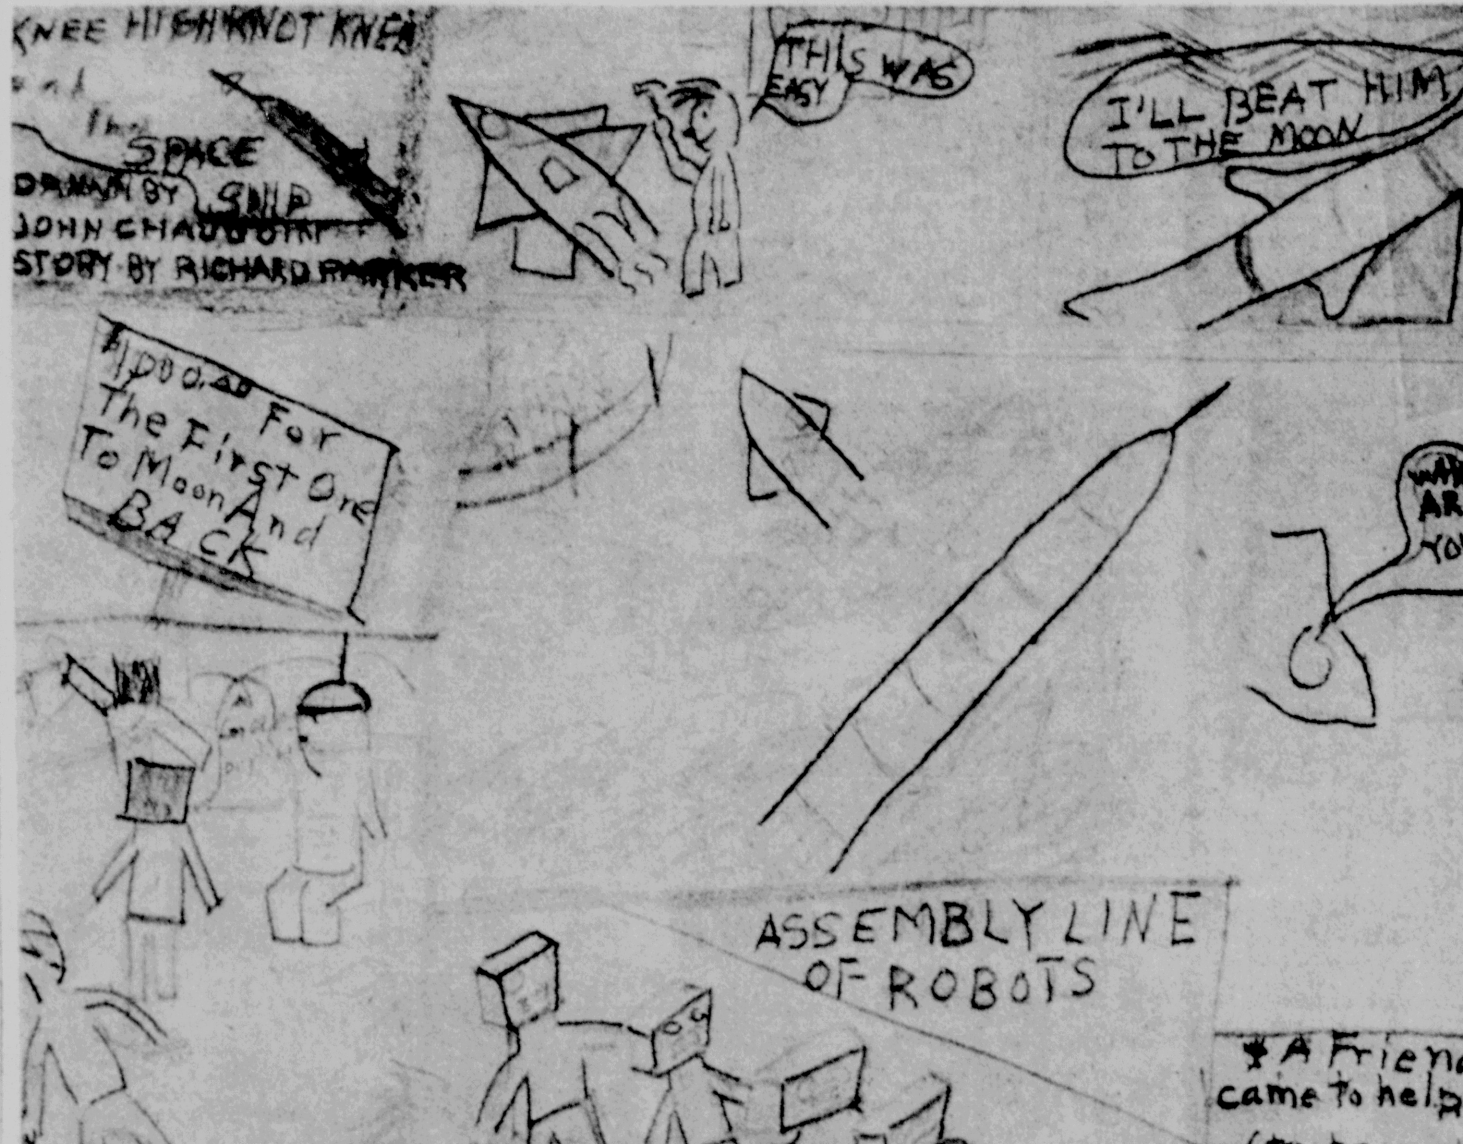

Frontier Space Lines, as well as most of the other companies, wasn't too particular about the physical health of their passengers. As long as they had the money to pay for passage, and wanted to go, they were O.K.'d providing their heart was beating.

Men experienced in space travel knew that it was risky business taking physically unwell persons out into space. Their advice was listened to but it was not heeded.

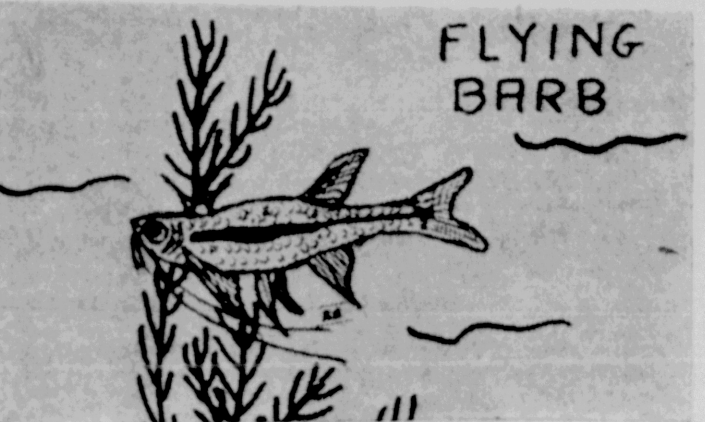

Public opinion was with the private space lines, not against them, so little official action could be carried out. That is, until the flight to Ganymede, one of Jupiter's moons, ran into trouble.

FLYING BARB
By Ray Broekel

Here is truly an unusual aquarium fish. Scientifically known as Esomus danricus, this fish comes from northern India and Burma.

Full grown adults reach a length of four to five inches, although in the aquarium they reach about half this size.

The flying barb is both a graceful and an active fish. Its pectoral fins (the ones by the side of the head) can be spread out quite wide.

These fins, when spread out, allow the fish to literally leap out of the water. For this reason, aquariums with flying barb in them should be covered at all times.

Likes To Leap
Covered aquariums serve some what as a hazard to this leaping fish, since it will bang itself headlong at the top. Fortunately, it soon learns that the way out isn't up. However, leave the top glass off for awhile, and Mr. Flying Barb right then and there decides to go for a leap.

They also stake out "land" in the aquarium which they claim property rights to. It is rather humorous to see a tank of flying barb, each watching carefully over his own chosen section.

Good community fishes, flying barb make an interesting addition to a tropical fish collection.

Numbers For Books

The next time you go to a library, pay particular attention to the numbers in the upper left hand corner of the card in the catalog and to the number on the back-strip of the book.

All of you know how to look up a book in the card catalog, and then by using the number on the card, to locate the book on the shelves.

Just think what it would mean if there was no system in a library. Books would just be put higgledy-piggledy on the shelves, and it would be like looking for a needle in a haystack to find a particular book.

But, as long as we have had libraries, and we have had them since Babylonian days, some system of classification has been used, so that the books on the same subject will be found together on the shelves, and it is usually a system that calls for the arrangement of books by subjects and authors in alphabetical order.

Out of all the systems, the one that is used in most libraries in the United States (Harvard and the Library of Congress, two of the largest libraries, have systems of their own, however) is the Dewey Decimal System.

The man who thought up this very useful system was born Melville Louis Kasuth Dewey in Adams Center, New York. While he was growing up he became deeply interested in organizing and classifying and simplifying all sorts of things. He even shortened his own name to Melvil Dewey, and all his life he was interested in simplified spelling—mostly by leaving out what he considered unnecessary letters.

Let's Go Birding

BELL'S VIREO

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Here we are with the last of the three vireos common to this area throughout the summer — Bell's Vireo. If you have had difficulty in seeing either the Warbling Vireo or the Red-eyed, you really have our sympathy now. We wonder whether you will ever see Bell's.

Bell's Vireo isn't difficult to find because it is lost in leaves high in the crown of tall trees like the Warbling and the Red-eyed. No, it is seldom found higher than six or ten feet from the ground. It prefers low woody growths, bottom-land thickets, patches of blackberry tangles, or dense hedges of any kind.

From that hedge or thicket may come a strange husky sputtering. Roger Tory Peterson hears in its song "Cheedle, cheedle chee! Cheedle, cheedle chee!" You may step up closer to find the source of that rapid jumble of husky notes, but we doubt whether the best of you will see more than a mere fleeting glimpse of a small gray bird.

Time after time you may chase the source of this song up and down a long hedge or around a dense thicket. You will begin to wonder whether this mysterious song belongs to a bird body. Then all unexpectedly this little green-gray bird may perch itself in full view on a twig, that is, if you are lucky.

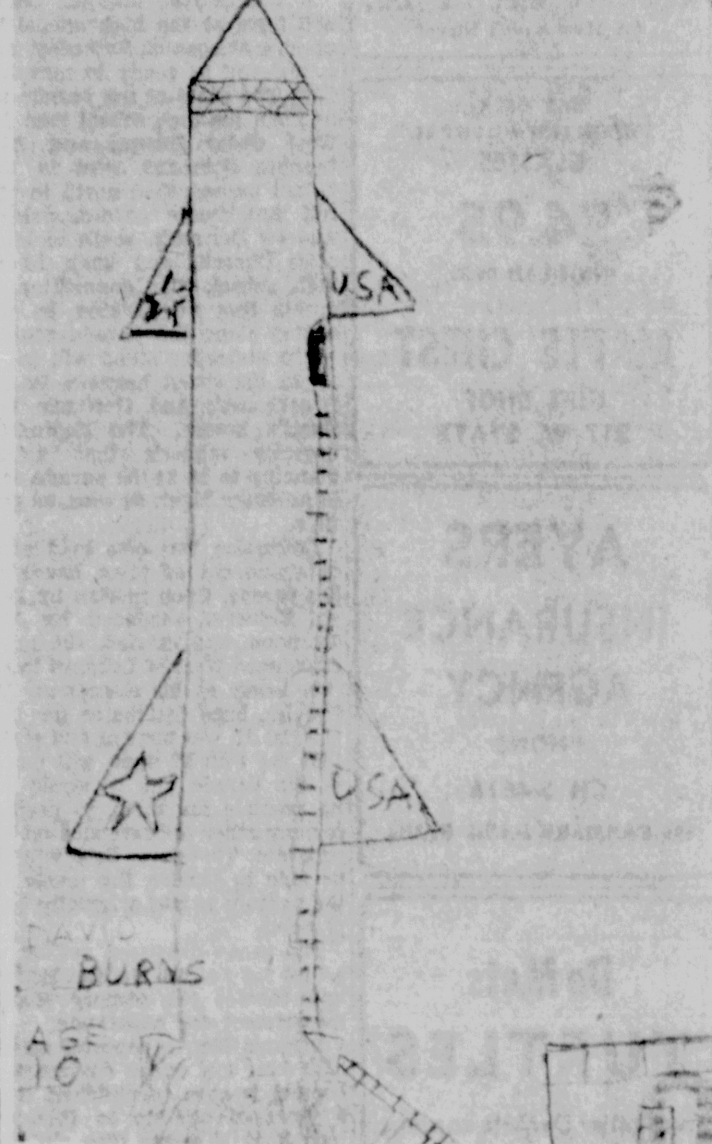

Work fast if you want to see it, for it will be gone in another moment. And you will have to begin the chase again, if you are that patient.

If you look quickly and intently, you may discover the field marks of this vireo: two white wing-bars, dark eyes, and interrupted narrow light eyerings. In general, we think of it as a little green-gray bird with a wash of pale lemon-yellow on its throat and sides.

Like Berry Briars
You will not hear Bell's Vireo in the elms along the streets of Jacksonville as you can either the Warbling Vireo or the Red-eyed. However, its song, we guarantee is a part of the blackberry tangles around Lake Jacksonville and the brushy thickets on Lake Mauvalsterre. It particularly likes blackberry briars in which to hide its nest.

And, by the way, its nest is a beautiful one: a small, neat, well-woven basket which is fairly deep. The outside is sometimes decorated with blossoms and cocoon silks. Only a few feet above the ground there it is slung on a twig so firmly and built so strongly that it can survive more than one winter's snows and lashing winds. Unless you like blackberry briars better than we do, you'll not find this well-hidden nest now. Look for it after the leaves have fallen.

Uranus and its Moons

FIVE, SIX, PICK UP STICKS

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

Uranus' five moons makes one think of the rhyme that's said when playing Jacks—"Five, six, pick up sticks."

Uranus is the third largest of the giant planets in the solar system.

It is only 33,219 miles in diameter which is rather small for a giant planet when you remember that Jupiter, the largest, is 89,329 miles in diameter. Uranus is tilted 98 degrees to its orbit which means that its axis almost points directly at the sun.

Even at Uranus' distance from the sun of 1,785 million miles it is 19 times as far away as the earth is from the sun. This slant of Uranus causes marked seasonal changes in the gases of this planet's atmosphere.

Few Birthdays!
Uranus goes around the sun about every 84 earth years. You'd be mighty old before you had a birthday if you lived on Uranus!

A day in Uranus is 10 hours and 45 minutes long. So though their years are 84 times as long as earth's, their days are less than half as long as ours!

Five Moons
Uranus has five moons. The smallest moon, Miranda, is also the closest. Miranda is about 300 miles in diameter. We do not know the exact size of any of Uranus' moons because it is so far from us.

Miranda is 81 miles from Uranus. It takes Miranda 1.41 days to go around Uranus.

The largest of Uranus' moons is Titania which is about 1,000 miles in diameter. This moon is 273,000 miles from Uranus. It takes 8.71 days for Titania to go around Uranus.

The satellite farthest from Uranus is Oberon. It is 365,000 miles from Uranus. It takes 13.36 days for this moon to circle Uranus and it is about 900 miles in diameter.

Next we'll tell you about the SMALLEST GIANT PLANET.

resting stages, come next. From these adult moths and butterflies emerge to start in laying eggs again.

The caterpillar stage is the one that can be most easily observed. Adult butterflies and moths do not make good captives since they will bruise their wings flying around in a cage.

Got A Plastic Box?
Any plastic box will serve as a good home for caterpillars. A glass jar or an empty milk carton with one side cut out and replaced by a piece of clear plastic or glass will also do.

Fill the bottom of the container with dirt. Then take a small glass or plastic tube or vial. Fill this with water and sink it into the soil.

In order to keep caterpillars you must provide them with the type of food they have been eating. Notice carefully the plant you found them on. Take a branch or two of the plant and place the stem end in the glass or plastic tube in your container. Then stuff some cotton around the stem. This will prevent the caterpillars from falling into the water.

As soon as the plant dies you will have to replace it with a fresh one.

Use Tight Lid
If you keep your container air-

The Pep-Up Pills New Drugs for the Mentally Ill

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Scientists have shattered the blood age of the tranquilizer with a revolutionary type of happiness pill. It's the enigma.

This is the name of a special group of drugs that is becoming as effective in pepping people up as tranquilizers are in calming them down. The one that's receiving the most attention today is a super stimulant called iproniazid.

The reason is that it's the first drug that has been successful in helping cure severely depressed mental patients. It works best on people who suffer from a special type of depression that often immobilizes them or makes them want to commit suicide.

Dr. Jonathan Cole, top drug expert for the U.S. Public Health Service's National Institute of Mental Health, declares, "This is the hottest development of the year."

The new drugs are not panaceas for the average person who feels he needs a boost. They can be obtained only on prescription.

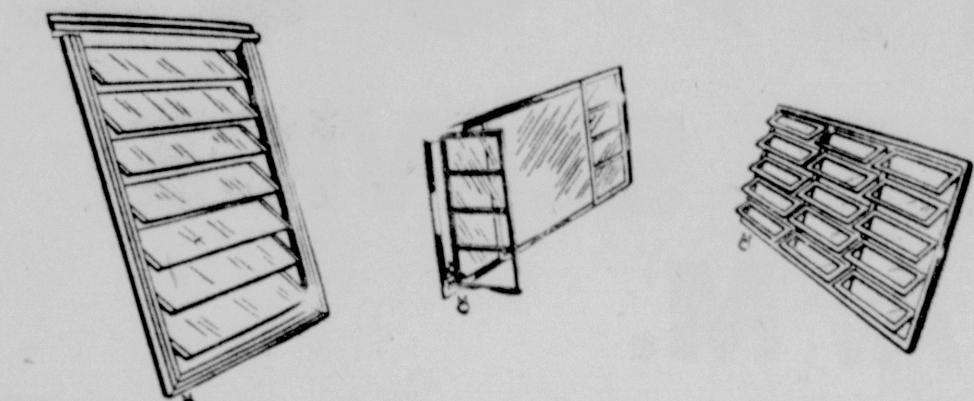

NEW ENERGIZING drugs have brought some mental patients out of severe depression.

LONDON (NEA)—Britain is threatened with a loss of oil, gas and oil prices already have gone up and the pessimists are talking of a rationing.

But there is widespread British support for the action the U.S. is taking in the Middle East.

"The best thing the American government has done in years," said an interview.

Maj. Gen. Sir Edwin Spears, the post-war British Minister to Syria, said in an interview.

Spears supports sending an Anglo-American force into Iraq as well as Lebanon. He also favors giving Jordan's King Hussein unlimited support.

"If the situation is allowed to get further out of hand, God knows where it will end. It is a Middle East succumb to a Nazi-inspired wave of nationalism. Africa will be next on the list," Spears predicts.

"We are always on the defensive. We sit by and watch the Russians spreading their influence by every underhanded means. Now it is time we stepped in to establish order in the Arab world."

Not all Britons show the same enthusiasm. There has been some anti-American sniping, including debate on the situation.

"Thank God, we're doing something at last. It's about time the West showed the Middle Eastern hotbeds that we are tired of being pushed around. It's time we turned on events instead of being the helpless victims."

Junior Page Visits 'Prop Kickers' Model Exhibition

BEARDSTOWN GROUP VISITS LOCAL CLUB

Two Beardstown men attended the Jacksonville exhibition to fly an experimental model of the builder's own design. Here a group of spectators watch refueling operations underway.

THIS IS NO JOKE!

The term "board" could not be more descriptive — this is a piece of 1/8 inch balsa wood about 3 feet long with a motor installed. Yes, it really does fly.

The Jacksonville Prop Kickers, a model airplane club, has extended a cordial welcome to children and grownups alike to attend one of their regular flying meets at the corner of North Church and West Walnut on Wednesday or Sunday evenings.

President Gene Stubblefield said that the next regular meeting of the club will be held July 23 at the field. "Anyone who appreciates model airplanes is always welcome in our group."

One member reported that "as little as ten or fifteen dollars will start a youngster in this fast moving sport."

Several youngsters are just starting in the club with the help and guidance of older members.

Pictures by Lonnie Rabjohns

RADIO CONTROLLED CLASS

This group of Prop Kickers sport single and multi-engine jobs controlled by small radios as their specific interest which requires somewhat more work and expense to fly. They usually fly the radio controlled craft at Rees Station, east of the city on Route 104.

HAVE RADIO — NO CONTROL

Bob Tendick is showing his radio-controlled model which somehow got out of range of the transmitter about a week ago. The model was last seen flying toward Jacksonville and may have crashed between Rees Station and the city.

TWO MOTOR CRASH VICTIM

This two motor job met with disaster during a test flight and crashed. The finished model represents many hours of spare time work for the builder. The damage is easily repaired and the plane will soon be flying as good as ever.

TYPICAL EXHIBITION SCENE

This view of the "pit" area is typical of the number of models being used by the Jacksonville club at the corner of Church and Walnut each Wednesday and Sunday evenings.

Spectators find races, stunting and other forms of sport at the model meets.

BY AIR TO LEBANON — Today all eyes, and air routes, converge on the tiny Middle East nation of Lebanon, where for weeks the government has been battling rebel forces and where recently contingents of U.S. Marines have been landed. Newsmap above shows approximate airline distances from the major capitals of the world. British troops are reported to have flown from the island of Cyprus to Amman, capital of Jordan, while American troops have been airlifted to Adana, Turkey, from bases in West Germany. Shading on map identifies major political groupings. Turkey, shown as a Baghdad Pact country, is also a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; Britain is also a member of both NATO and the Baghdad Pact. Iraq, until the recent overthrow of her government, was a member of the Baghdad Pact.

NASSER: A Political Comeback---

OCT. 1956
Nasser's fortunes were at lowest ebb as Israeli, French and British troops advanced on Suez. They were halted by U.N. intervention.

1957
Nasser retained control of the Suez Canal and began rebuilding his armies with quantities of Russian and satellite munitions.

FEBRUARY, 1958
The United Arab Republic was formed by union of Egypt and Syria. Jordan and Iraq later federated in an attempt to counter this move.

JULY, 1958
Overthrow of the pro-West Iraqi government splits the Middle East and puts more pressure on Jordan, Israel and Lebanon. Nasser rides of high tide.

There is another aspect to the overthrow of the Iraqi government which, up to that sudden turn of events, was a key member of the pro-West Baghdad Pact. That is the remarkable political comeback of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Sketch story above traces the continuing rise of Nasser since his near debacle in the Suez in 1956. Considered by some to have bitten off more than he could chew in seizing the Suez Canal, Nasser has put the Waterway back into efficient, paying operation. Rebuffed by the West, Nasser turned to the East for aid, and seemingly has retained independence from Communist domination. The unexpected union of Egypt with Syria gave proof that Nasser was still a force to be reckoned with in Middle Eastern politics. Now, with Iraqi rebels proclaiming allegiance to Nasserism, observers are anxiously awaiting Nasser's follow-up move on the Middle East checkerboard.
